WEST HIGH SCHOOL
PHOENIX, ARIZONA

West's "front" entrance, rarely seen by students during school hours, greets them on their way to school, on the way home, and during fire drills. What happens at West between these times — from class work to exciting football games — is recorded in the 1966-67 WESTERNER.

BEHIND THE COVER

Time goes very slowly for Karen Duke when she is required to walk in the same place for two hours.

"Lucky" Laurie Simon gets to pose on the second floor of the lobby where the sun smothers instead of burns.

Independent study, one of the goals of Flexible Scheduling, made the various resource centers necessary. These centers, each covering a major academic area like the Science Resource Center, offered the proper atmosphere and materials for students to follow their own study routine in a specific field.

FLEXIBLE SCHEDULING

West's revolutionary Flexible Scheduling system brought freedom and independence to its students. Despite modifications, the results of overloading the computers which scheduled the students and maintaining order during the first weeks of school, Flexible Scheduling was a success in its first year at West. Students were given more freedom to study on their own which, in turn, gave the teachers more time to really teach. Other advantages included homework at school, a greater variety of subjects, and shorter periods. Flexible Scheduling, part of a three year plan, will continue to be modified until the ideal system — placing much of the responsibility on the student — is reached.

Mrs. Annie Laurie Buehman and Miss Wilma Sain find the math resource center a good place to discuss the schedule for their algebra classes.

One advantage of the resource centers was the concentration of material covering a single academic field. The Social Studies resource center had a collection of books, pamphlets, and records concerning the social studies — from World History to American Government — which helped teachers with their lectures and students with their assignments.

West students enrolled in more classes, and each class had more students during the 1966-1967 school year. This combination of Flexible Scheduling and an open school policy made huge stacks of textbooks necessary.

Flexible scheduling was ready for West, but was West ready for flexible scheduling? Four days before the first day of school, the math resource center still needed a floor, some paint, some furniture, and school supplies. Worries disappeared, however, as feverish last-minute work readied everything for the students and a new way of school life.

Resource centers offered large collections of specialized study material in each of the major academic subjects. This new type of study center led to a new type of teacher, resource center personnel. Mrs. Andree Weed, Foreign Language; Mrs. Molly Villemez, English; Mrs. Nita Shultz, Social Studies; Mrs. Ellen Cloyd, Clerical Pool; Mrs. Patricia Dalrymple, Clerical Pool; Mrs. Betty Bothwell, Clerical Pool; Mrs. Terrie Mead, General; Mrs. Catherine Creede, Math; and Mrs. Carol Martin, Science helped students using the centers in every way possible. They helped students find specific materials, issued make-up tests from the various classes, and maintained a quiet atmosphere for study. Their efforts helped make independent study at West a success.

FACULTY and ADMINISTRATION

The Board of Education is directly responsible for the planning and execution of all the policies concerning books, teachers, and curricula for the Phoenix Union High School System. The Board and Dr. Seymour were particularly interested in the success of Flexible Scheduling at West and the problems it has created. Changes which had to be made and the over-all effect on the students were carefully observed with the possibility of converting the whole Phoenix Union System to Flexible Scheduling.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

DR. ROBERT GARD PRINCIPAL

In his first year as principal of West, Dr. Robert Gard, met the double challenge of establishing his new administration and making the new Flexible Scheduling System work. Dr. Gard developed a deep respect for West High tradition and West's strong student organization. Under Dr. Gard's direction, the problems created by Flexible Scheduling were remedied and plans were made to expand and modify the system. He expressed his strong belief in the success of the '66-'67 school year in a message to the students:

"Another year of West High's history has been written, not in pen and ink only, but also in lives and experiences. In ways we sometimes recognize — in others that more subtly dwell in the subconscious — all of us have changed and grown.

For many of you, this spring marks the end of your investment of hours and effort in your high school education; for others, it is a station along the way. For all, the year has been a time of gain — in memories, in knowledge, in skills.

May this summer and the coming year — and all your coming years — be progressively more pleasant and rewarding."

Dr. Gard has guided West through the many crises which the year presented. His leadership has helped keep — and will continue to keep — West among the leading high schools in the United States.

Mr. C.W. Roland

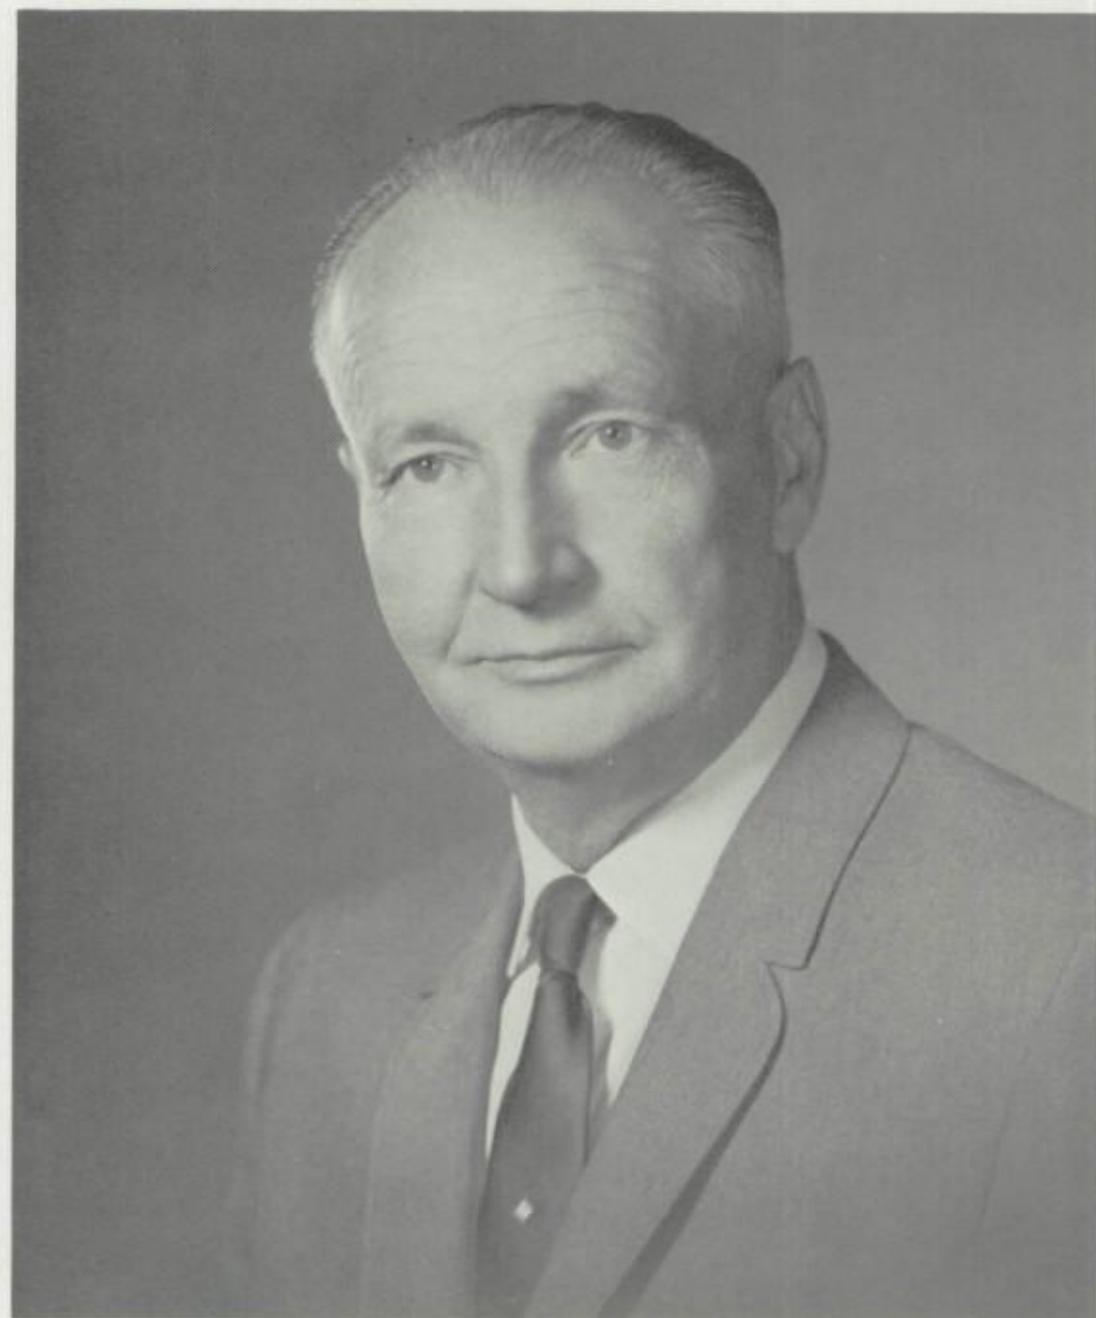

ASSOCIATE PRINCIPAL

Responsible for all non-academic functions of the school, Associate Principal C. W. Roland supervised cafeteria services, school budget, custodial services, school improvements, and the business functions of the school. Mr. Roland was also indirectly responsible for the coordination of West's athletic program and activities program.

Mr. Roland has been deeply involved in the planning and establishment of Flexible Scheduling at West. After observing the system during its first year of operation, Mr. Roland addressed the students:

"The school year 1966-1967 has been a busy one with its share of disappointments and accomplishments.

I want to congratulate the student body on their ability to adjust to changing conditions and to wish the class of '67 the best of everything on their activities after high school."

Mr. Roland glances from his papers to contemplate important school business.

Wise words and an understanding smile characterized Mr. Siegel's office.

BOYS' ADM. ASS'T.

Miss Jeanne Bailey

GIRLS' ADM. ASS'T.

Disciplinary problems filling only half their busy year, Miss Jeanne Bailey and Mr. Jerome Siegel spent much of their time coordinating West's varied extra-curricular activities.

As Administrative Assistant for Girls, Miss Bailey was primarily concerned with the coordination of the total activity program at West. She commented on the effects of the Flexible Scheduling:

"Our new program has resulted in more freedom for the students and this has made it necessary for each one to accept more individual responsibility.

Now that we have had one year to function within the framework of our new program, all students should have a greater awareness of the advantages offered by the program and in the future make greater use of the opportunities available to them."

Mr. Siegel, Administrative Assistant for Boys, coordinated West's activity program in addition to aiding students with discipline and attendance problems. Mr. Siegel stated his faith in the West High Student:

"In completing my second year at West High, I have noticed a developing awareness, on the part of the vast majority of students, of their responsibilities towards their school, peers, and activity participation. Keep up the good work!"

Mr. Preston Snapp, Mr. Ralph Traw, Mrs. Mildred Adair, Mrs. Virginia Berggren, Mrs. Moyne Jamison, Mr. Russell Harris, and Mrs. Marian Lee (not pictured) worked with each individual student to find the curriculum which suited him best.

From his huge collection of student records West's head counselor, Mr. John Schoolland, selects a folder so he can have the background of a student he is to meet.

Head Counselor

The counselors began their work for the '66-'67 school year in the spring of 1966. They contacted eighth graders from all the grade schools in the West district for enrollment in high school. Working with the same students throughout the year, the counselors helped each student think for himself in choosing his classes and achieving to the best of his ability. The counselors gave and interpreted tests, explained college entrance requirements, helped with job placements, made scholarship recommendations, and helped students work out their individual problems. Always interested in their students, counselors — in addition to their guidance work — sponsored clubs, councils, and other extra-curricular activities.

BOOKSTORE

Mrs. Clara Tanner and Mrs. Annalee Moore managed West's bookstore, which offered everything from five cent erasers to ten dollar books. Mountains of school supplies went from the bookstore to the students: books, pencils, paper, lockers, rentals and fees for special classes, and numerous small — but necessary — materials. When the bookstore wasn't open to students, Mrs. Tanner and Mrs. Moore handled club requisitions, school insurance, caps and gowns for seniors, and financial records for all clubs.

the year. Flexible scheduling led to more work for all — more food to buy and prepare, more students to plan for. A new snack bar line inside the cafeteria helped speed up all the snack bar activities and also prevented some damp students on rainy days. Despite the heavy load, the hard-working cafeteria staff, directed by Mrs. Ann Donahue, kept West's cafeteria running smoothly.

Thirteen women helped 2500 students through the '66-'67 school year. Joyce Knight, Louise DeCenso, Mary Gillette, Vi Ridgley, Isabell Ritzenthaler, Shirley Peebles, Clara Cummins, Art Carlisle, Peggy Strasser, Harriet Besst, Emily Adams, Naomi Buckshot, and Buryl Felton handled the various clerical jobs. They filed student information, checked students in and out of school, recorded grades, arranged appointments, typed recommendations, kept class sizes — all to keep pupil accounting running smoothly.

HEALTH CENTER

West's casualties, major and minor, all passed through the door of Mrs. Laura Scofield's office. Students who felt ill were either permitted to go home or to rest on one of the beds in the nurse's office. All manner of aches and pains resulting from a rough game in P.E., falling down the stairs, or just tripping over feet were treated by her. In addition to the daily illness, Mrs. Scofield processed physicals, reported disabilities, tested hearing and vision, and handled all P.E. excuses. Throughout the year, Mrs. Scofield's presence assured students that there would always be someone interested in their health at West.

West's librarians, Mrs. Dorothy Davis, circulation; Miss Barbara Riggan, Assistant Librarian; Mrs. Anne McGrath, Library office; and Miss Hilia Lindroos, Head Librarian, worked to maintain a good atmosphere for research and study. Responsible for all library resources, the staff purchased materials, did the final processing for new additions to the library, and regulated circulation.

LIBRARY MAINTENANCE

Bob Gray, Brent Robles, and Dwight Gross. Headed by Mr. Sam Hazel, the men served as plumbers, gardeners, and groundskeepers to become behind-the-scenes men for all West activities.

Senior executives, President Carl LeSueur, Secretary Nancy Peck, Treasurer Joe Galbraith, and Vice-president Gene Losey, co-ordinate senior activities with the assistance of co-sponsors Miss Bette Plew and Mr. Carl Jepson.

One of the most spirited graduating classes West has seen, this year's Seniors have spent much of their time being unusual. Their activities included sports dances, the magazine sale, the PTA membership drive, a homecoming float, the Junior Olympics, the Senior Banquet, and Senior Ditch Day.

Going all out, the Seniors placed first in each competitive activity — only the second senior class in the history of West to do so. Aside from activities, the Seniors have the unique distinction of being the first graduating class to experience flexible scheduling and the only one to be composed, almost entirely, of students born the same year as West.

Congratulations are in order for West's homecoming royalty with Greg Owen and Chiquita Rollins among the first to give them. Jan McEldowney, clutching the bouquet of roses presented her, is all smiles for her admirers while the rest of her subjects dance under the spell of "Medieval Magic."

These relayers find that competing in the Junior Olympics is a thankless job. Although they win points, their efforts bring nothing but laughs.

KING JOHN PAELFORD

Joy is expressed in some unusual ways — especially by brand-new homecoming royalty. Huge smiles marked the happiness of Queen Jan McEldowney and King John Padelford. Excitement almost crackled as Jim Boice and Barbara Baker heard their names announced. Opposite reactions, smiles from June Goodson and tears from Mary Feeney, surrounded the smiling Carl LeSueur, while Paul Price and Candy Oen exchanged unbelieving glances as they started around the field. Back at the wrestling room, Mark Van Hoesen received instructions for the second half, forcing him to give Mary up to Carl.

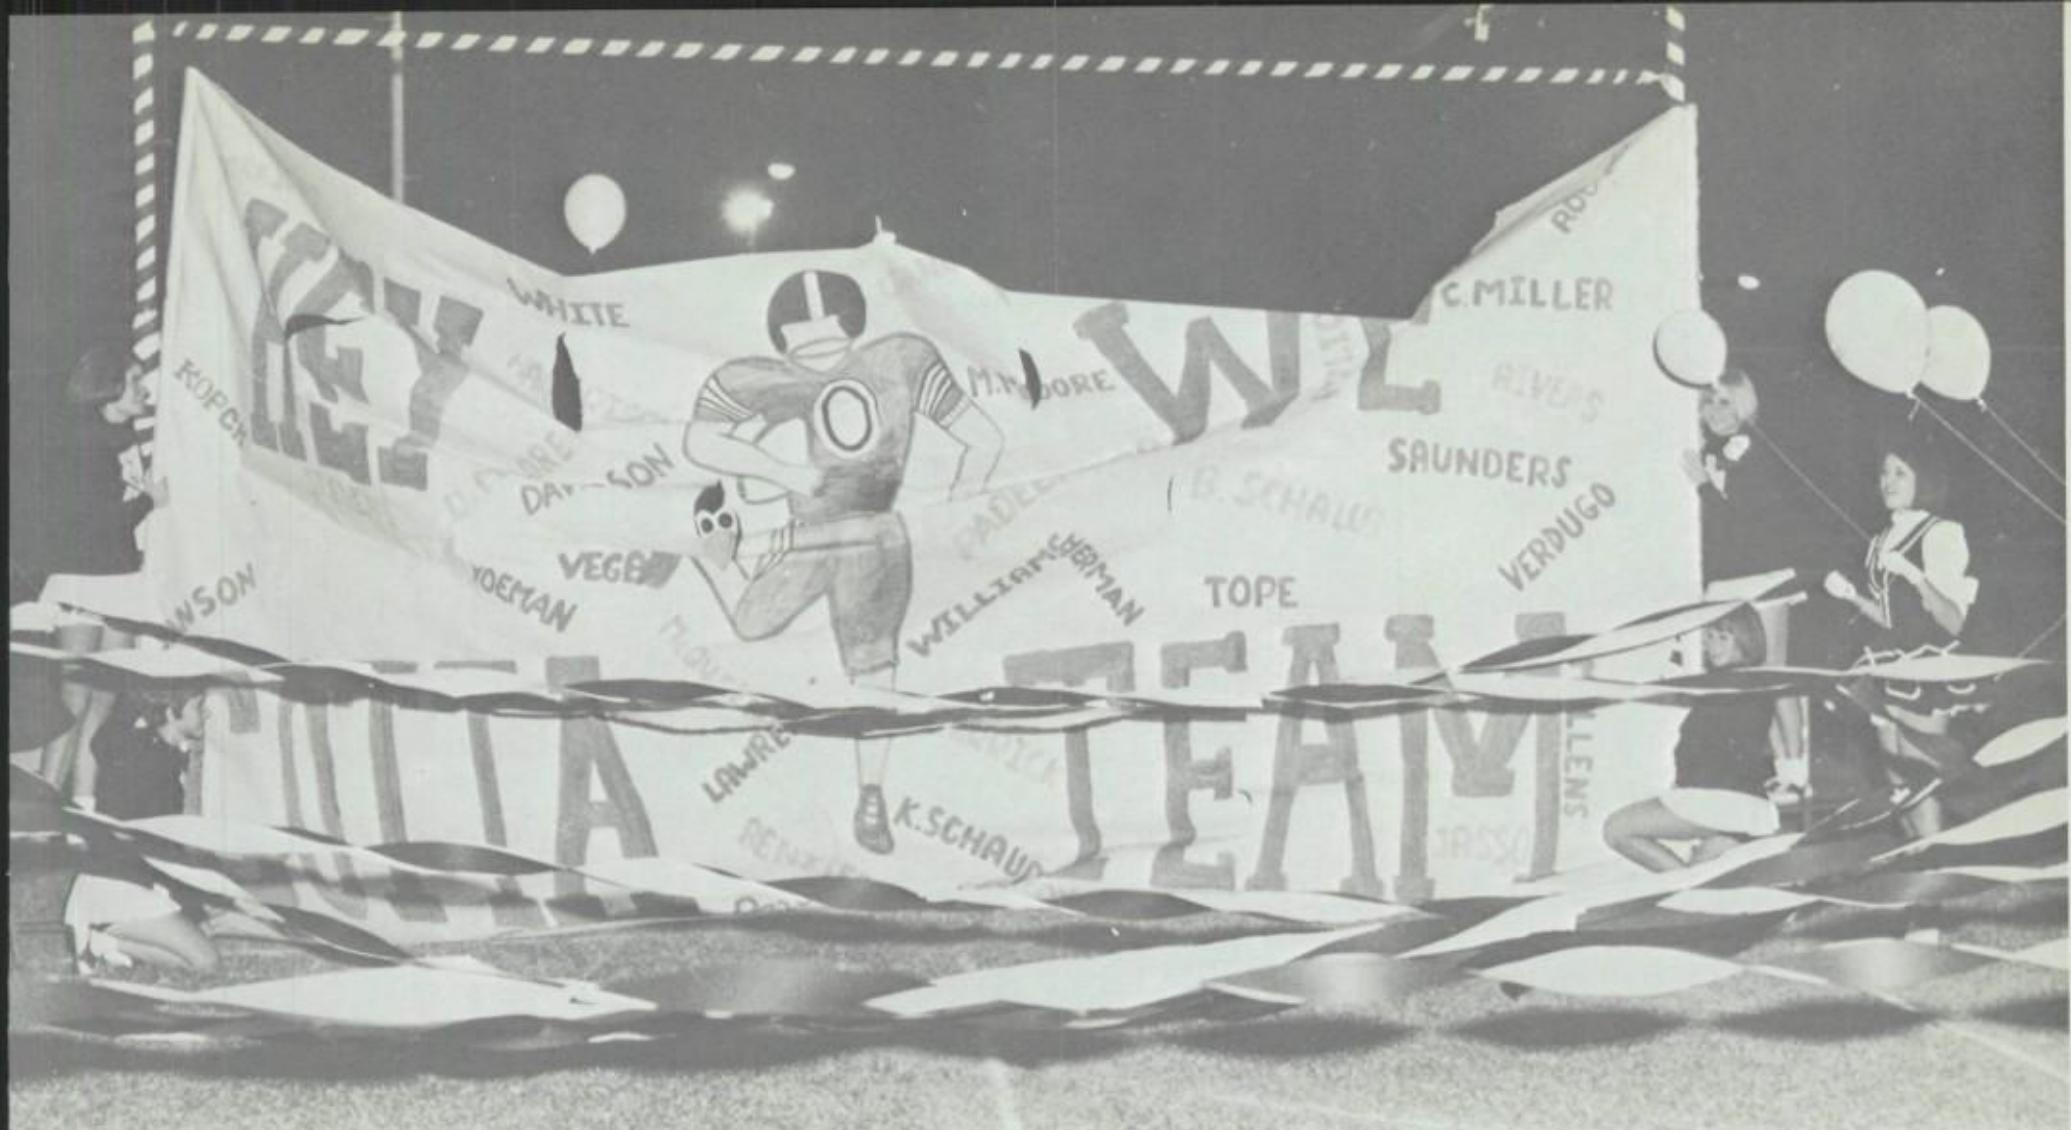

Spirits soared as West's cheerleaders and pom pon girls released good luck balloons to inspire the team to an even greater homecoming victory. The cheers increased to a steady roar as the maroon and white of the Thunderbird team, determined to make the homecoming game a victory, flashed onto the field.

A queen is crowned — and a king, too! Assisted by two tiny pages in their coronation ceremony, Queen Jan McEldowney and King John Padelford prepare to walk down the red carpet to the cheers of their loyal subjects.

"Pin a rose on the queen's nose," Lynde Refsnes and Candy Oen dare anyone to try — much less hit the target — during the homecoming assembly.

Bunches of red and white camellias, an old stone fountain, brightly colored pinata — a bit of Old Mexico in every corner — made the Christmas Semi truly "A December to Remember." After a pause for entertainment, the long awaited announcements of the queen and her court were made. Oh's and ah's accompanied attendants Marie Black, freshman (lower left), Maureen Feeney, sophomore (lower right), Robin Redding, junior (above left, and Mary Feeney, senior (above right) as they were escorted to their places by members of the Interact Club. TOP 2 PER CENT

Aided by advisor Mr. Harold Robinson, the Student body officers President Jim Boice, Vice-president Ken Schoolland, Girl's Secretary Debbie Oseran, and Boy's Secretary-Treasurer Bill Meyer coordinated all school activities.

Voices representing the interests of students, faculty, and administration, and community all came together before the Associated Student Government. Divided into Student Council and the Executive Committee, Student Government is the most active and most important student organization on the campus.

Working together, the two branches organized West traditions and activities into a busy, spirit-filled year. Student Council was divided into sixteen committees to provide various services around West: A.F.S., Bulletin Board, Calendar, Publications, Scrapbook and Hall of Fame,

STUDENT COUNCIL

Traditions, Career, Safety, Constitution, Evaluation and Recommendations, Honors and Recognition, Homebound, Orientation, Student-teacher Relations, Special Events, and Music, Drama, Art, and Dance. These groups provided career information for Seniors, publicity for school events, help for new or homebound students, support for special projects and activities, and honor for outstanding students, to name a few.

The major goal of Student Government, that of providing the best environment and attitude for a well-rounded education, led to an activity-filled, long-to-be-remembered school year.

Student Council approved and coordinated the many worthwhile projects and activities desired by the whole student body, providing practice in the skills of leadership and self-government for its members. (See Activities Index for identification.)

"All who are in favor of . . . please raise your hands," members of the Student Council vote on one of the many suggestions which are brought from reg rooms all over the campus.

Any student with a good idea may see it adapted through the workings of self-government in the Student Council — if the student body desires a change. As the voice of the general student body, Student Council representatives like Mark Moore present ideas and opinions collected from all those they represent. After discussing the idea during the meeting, the representatives take the idea to their reg rooms for further discussion. At the next meeting, a final vote is taken and the fate of the idea — rejection or final polishing and recommendation — is decided.

CAFETERIA COMMITTEE — With the big job of maintaining order in the cafeteria, members of the Cafeteria Committee had little time for rest during their assigned periods. Directed by chairman Paul Price, the hard working group regulated lunch lines, controlled cutting, kept the chairs at the tables, and cleaned up after forgetful lunchers. With the help of a Sun Dial editorial, the committee participated in the cafeteria clean-up campaign.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE — Entertainment, spirit, and food for thought were supplied almost every week through the efforts of the Assembly Committee. Members combined imagination and wit to produce lively scripts for the Student Government Assembly and the Rodeo Assembly. In addition to creative activities, chairman Dave Wilkof filed requisitions, worked out schedules, and made sure that every assembly ran smoothly.

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE — Spirited slogans plastered windows, bulletin boards, and walls, announcing athletic events, concerts, dances, and major club functions. Melissa Manley, as chairman, compiled lists of approaching events and asked her committee to publicize them. The Publicity Committee was also responsible for spirit boosting signs on buses and the lists of players in the cafeteria.

ELECTION AND PUBLIC RELATIONS COMMITTEE — West's public image and its major elections were the responsibilities of chairman Alan Stein and his committee. One of their first accomplishments was a brunch for Phoenix AFS students. Other activities promoting West's image included the placing of school scrapbooks in the library and sending Christmas cards to all Arizona high schools. Extra time was filled with election plans. The rules and supervision for school elections—from Freshman Class officers to Rodeo Queen—were supplied by the busy committee.

ACTIVITY COMMITTEE — Responsible for West tradition and spirit, Sue Hershfield and her committee initiated numerous spirit-raising activities. Weekly brainstorming sessions ended in Who's Who Day, Class Competition; a great Homecoming, exciting Rodeo activities, and Quad Curiosities for every game.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE — Traditional, as well as original ideas were used to create the proper atmosphere for all Student Government sponsored dances. The Social Committee, with chairman Sharon Holmes, used imagination to decorate the All-School Mixer, the Homecoming Dance, the Rodeo Dance, the Knee-Knocker, and the Computer Dance. The Social Committee also introduced refreshments as a feature of every dance.

FINANCE COMMITTEE — Approval of all Associate Student expenditures not stated in the budget is required from chairman Mr. Gard and the Finance Committee: Mrs. Mason, Mr. Huff, Mr. Siegel, Miss Bailey, Mr. Choolland, Bill Meyers, Joe Galbraith, John Neagle, David Shapiro, Charlie Fleishman.

AFS FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENTS

"Walk together, talk together, O ye peoples of the earth: then and only then shall ye have peace." Following the creed of the American Field Service, Fe Abellera of the Philippines and West's own Debbie Oseran walked among peoples of lands strange and new to them, helping open the door to world understanding and friendship.

After months of waiting, Debbie received notice that she had been selected to represent America in Brazil. Early in the summer she was on her way. Before traveling to her Brazilian family in Vitoria, she spent four fabulous days in Rio de Janeiro. "Home" at last, she met her new father, mother and twenty-three year old sister, Marcia. Debbie's Portuguese was practically non-existent and her family couldn't speak English, so for two days Marcia served as an interpreter while Debbie communicated with her family — in French. The summer passed all too quickly, leaving memories of parties, shopping-tours, sightseeing, and most of all, warm, friendly Brazilian people. Debbie said of her trip, "It was actually a dream come true. I will always be grateful to West High and the AFS program for giving me this opportunity to represent Americans

Fe came to West expecting to become very bow-legged and to live with cowboys and Indians. Instead of cowboys and Indians, she found "normal" people, all very friendly and willing to help. One of Fe's favorite pastimes was cheering at games. She also liked student government and the school spirit which made her feel more a part of West and less alone. She loved the American way of life. Comparing it with that of the Philippines she noted that American people lived at a faster pace with more social life and less formality. "Boys visit girls in cut-offs. At home they dress-up." On the whole, she found that Americans were less serious and more carefree and fun-loving than the people of the Philippines.

When she returns to the Philippines, Fe plans to study for the foreign service. Her trip to the United States has given her new insight into American education, landscapes, customs, and government. The fond memories and new understanding she has received from West will make a small-but significant-step toward world understanding.

Fe glances up from her Latin text to make a mental comparison between the "dead" language and her native Tagalog.

Dear T-Birds,

My year here at West is fast drawing to a close and I know how sad it will be when time comes for me to leave. Going to school with you and participating in the various school activities was a wonderful experience.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincerest thanks to all of you who in one way or another helped to make my year an extremely enjoyable one. I will always look back to the school year '66-'67 with fondest memories.

Fe C. Abellera

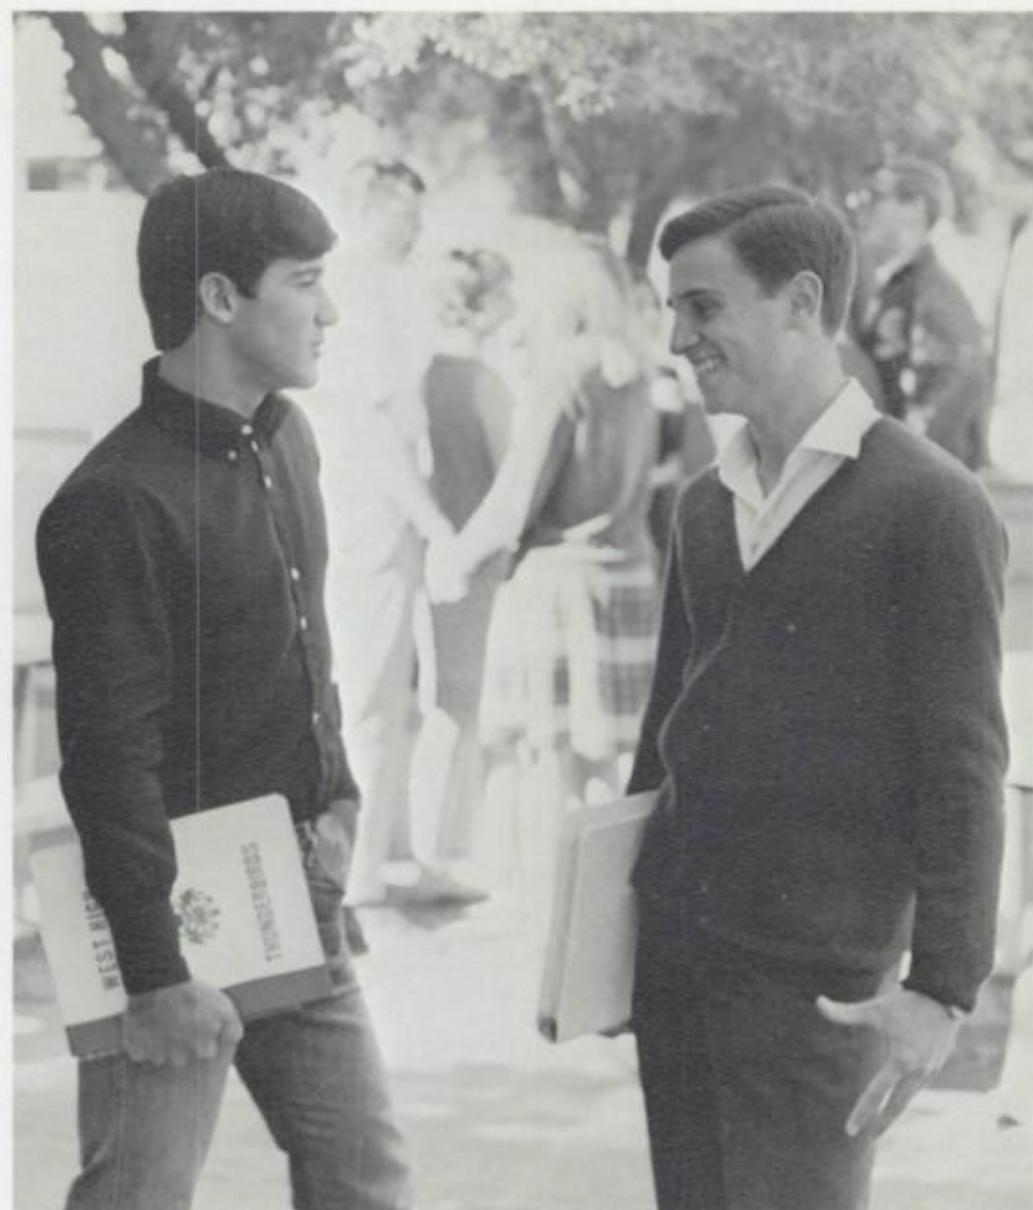

Still-vivid memories of new and exciting places sparkle in Debbie's eyes as she points to her summer home in Brazil.

West was host to two representatives of the Youths for Understanding program, Ewerton Machado Da Silva Ferreira of Brazil and Alejandro Irazabal of Chile.

Ewerton, who plans to enter the Diplomatic Service when he is nineteen, felt his visit gave him experiences and a knowledge of English which would help him reach his goal. He described West students as very friendly — in his own words, "I feel like I was in my home." Ewerton loved the "tranquility" of Phoenix. He found friends everywhere. Of his stay he said, "I liked West very much. Here in the school I found only good kids. I feel that they are my real friends and I always remember them. My American parents are very good and they are real parents to me. With all these good things I only hope to come back one day to see all these friends that will stay here but that I'll never forget. I would like to say thanks to everybody and I hope to have a chance to return to this great country. Ewerton."

Alejandro was impressed when he arrived at Phoenix. During the long trip from Chile, other foreign exchange students, destined for greener states, teased him about how unlucky it was to be assigned to "the desert." Alex fond himself deciding that all he could do was finish his mission and hope for the best. After living in Phoenix, he could only say, "I am the lucky one!" Alex loved West life, even though American teenagers live at a "faster pace." He found many American ideas and customs to take back to Chile and hoped that he had left something of Chile at West. Sad at leaving the desert, he said, "I think that it was yesterday my first day at West, and today at the end of this school year, I need to leave my dearest American family, teachers, and friends. But though far, I will have everybody in my thoughts. Going back to Chile I am lucky considering myself a Thunderbird and a Westerner. I don't say good bye, I'll see you, T-birds. Alejandro."

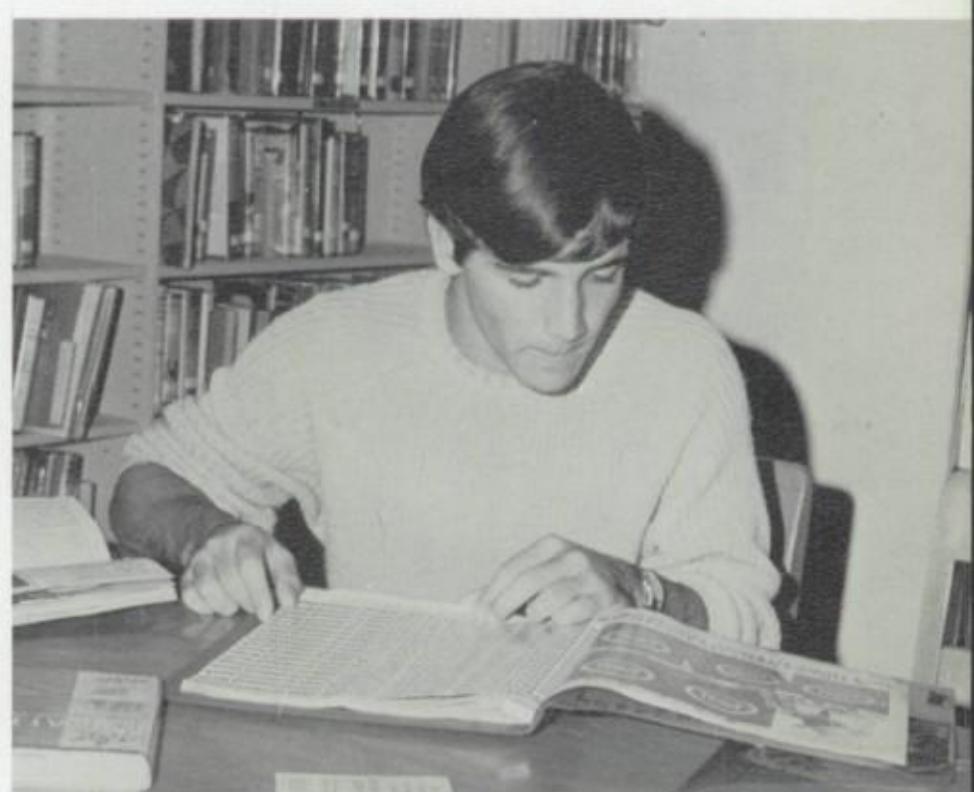

Ewerton Ferriero and Alejandro Irazabal, already loyal Thunderbirds, discuss their new Arizona way of life.

YOUTHS FOR UNDERSTANDING

Very interested in economics and related subjects, Alejandro studies the early development of United States workers unions. He hopes someday to help develop Chile's growing economy.

Catching up on United States current events, Ewerton reads one of the library magazines.

CONCERT CHOIR

This year our music department added a special ensemble, the Concert Choir, which consisted of students from the two mixed choruses. Concert Choir, under the direction of Mr. Serge Huff, met second period every day. Their performances, many with the 6th hour Mixed Chorus, have carried them to various parts of the valley.

A CAPPELLA

"Make someone happy" might well be the motto of Miss Kathleen Poore's A Cappella. Their songs, ranging from "Everything's Comin' Up Roses" to "America," lifted the spirits of numerous groups around the city: the West High

P.T.A., various elementary schools, the Charity Bazaar Luncheon at the Church of Latter Day Saints, several concerts at West, a C.Y.A. meeting at the First Methodist Church, and a climax, a performance at the State Capitol.

A chorus divided can stand, and ours has. Sixth hour Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Serge Huff, has performed around the Valley for many organizations, separate from the appearances of Miss Kathleen Poore's Third hour Mixed Chorus. (See Activity Index for identification.)

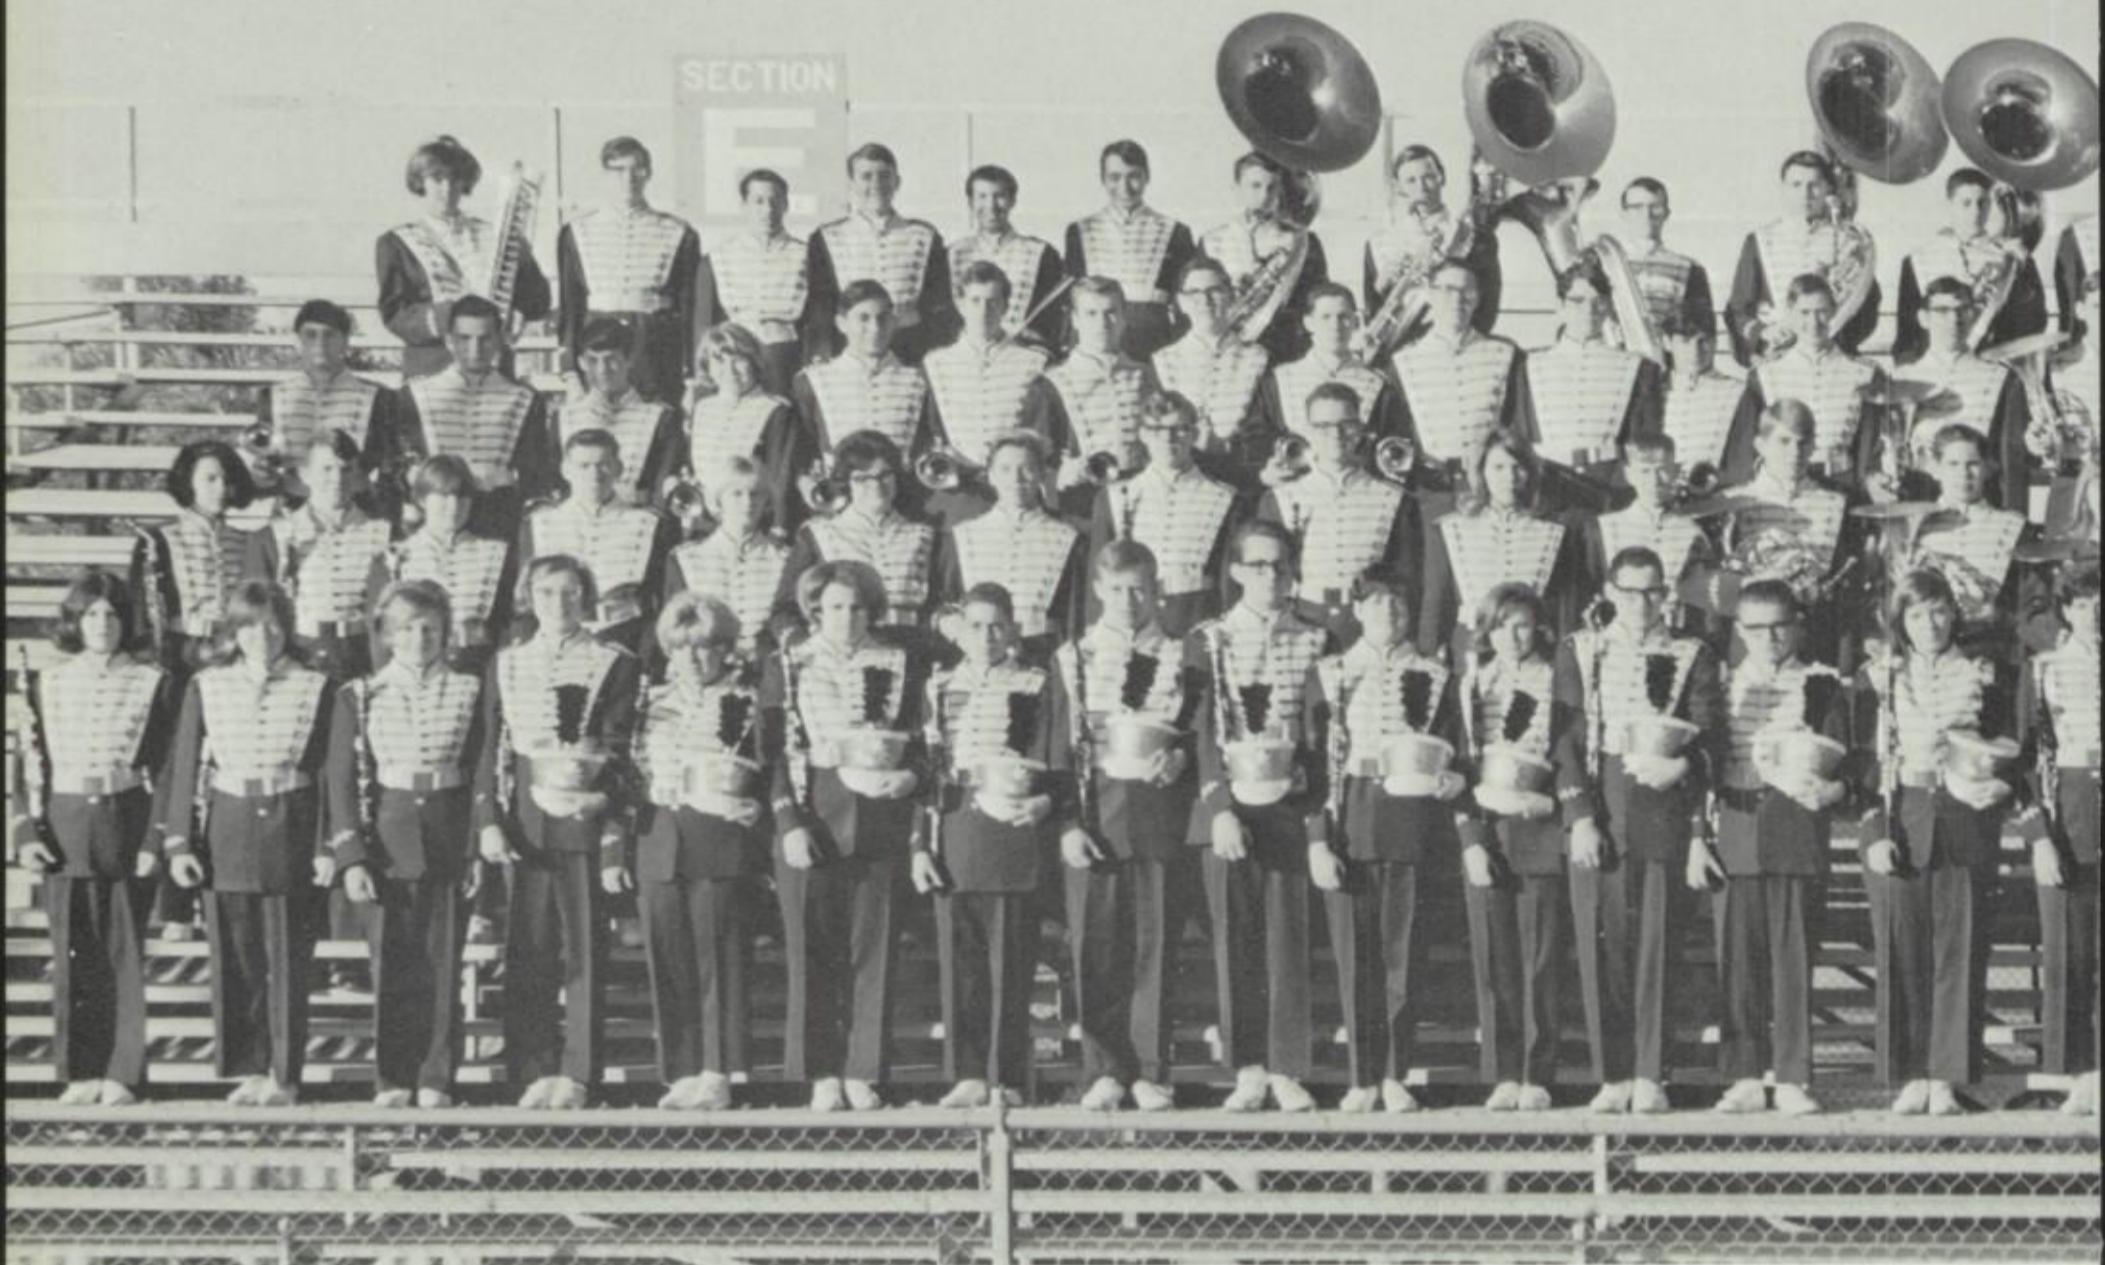

MIXED CHORUS

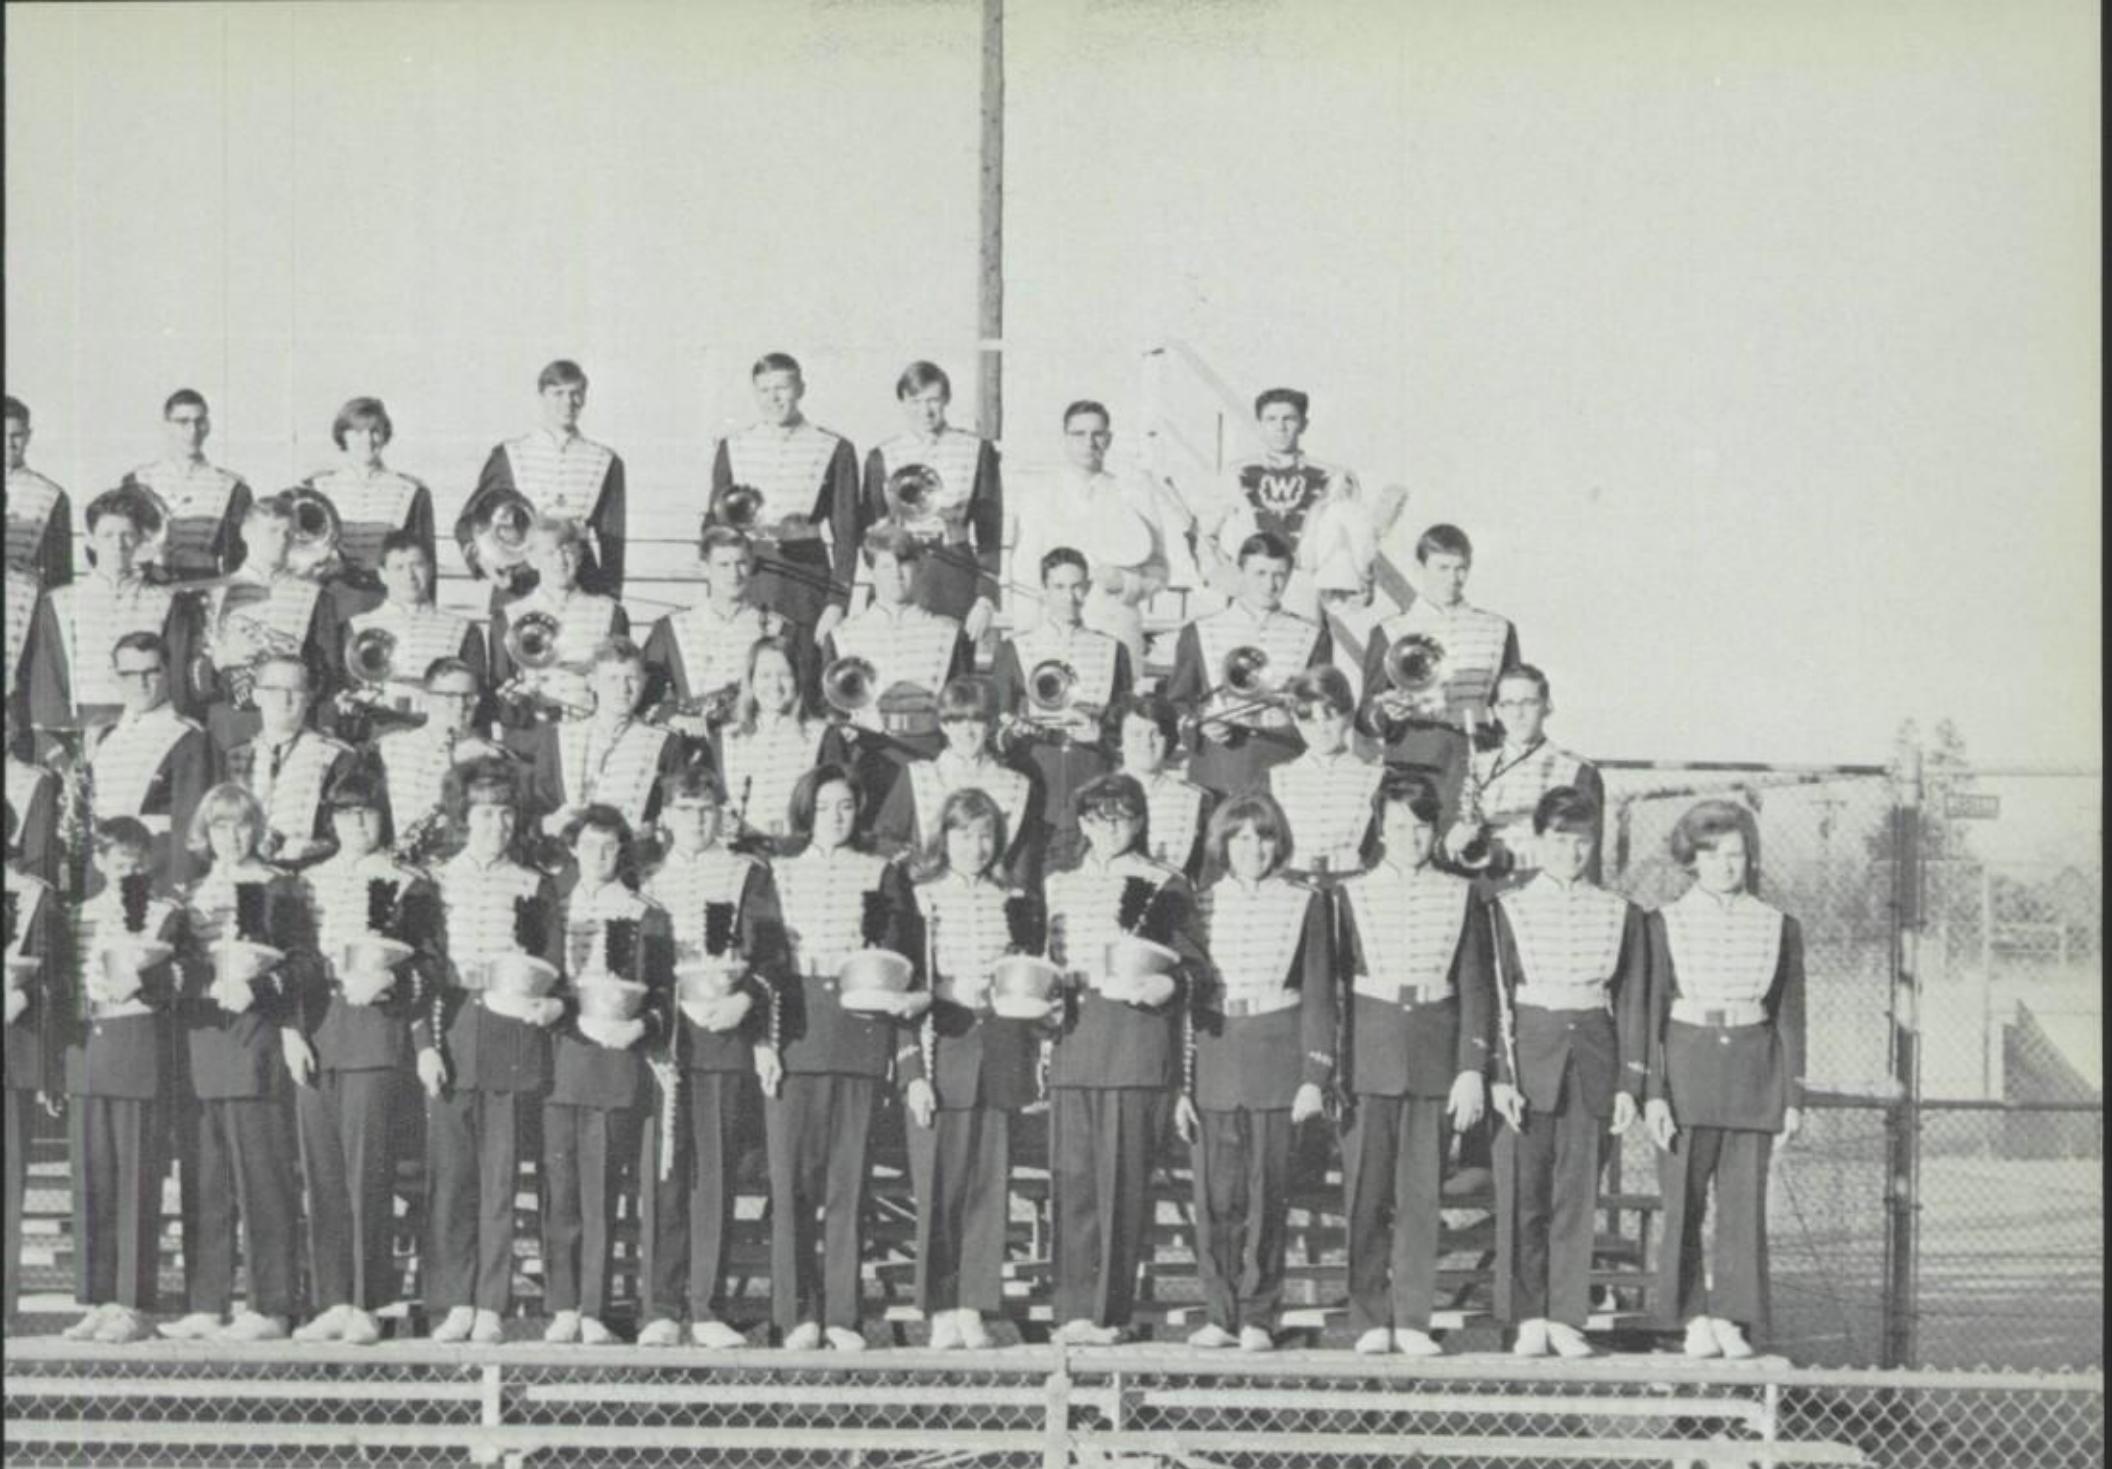

Changing last year's "conservative blue" for a more outgoing "hot pink," the West High Minnesingers have "gone all out" for their performances around Phoenix, which included a live broadcast over KOY radio.

Hours of practice made the 1966-1967 West High Band one of the best in the state having more All-State representation than any other school in the valley. Its one-hundred-ten members combined talent, originality, and lots of pep to raise spirit for every game. Exciting pre-game and half-time shows, each consisting of a series of formations and music in keeping with a central theme, were presented during the football season. Rousing music backed the cheerleaders and pompon girls at every pep assembly and pep rally. Splitting into two groups for the basketball season, the band brought a beat to every home game. Recombining, the West Bandsman presented several concerts: two of which, one classical and one pop, were performed in the auditorium; and a "concert" of popular hit songs was performed in the quad.

During the school year, the West High Band ventured from the campus to make several performances around the valley. Arizona State University honored the West "music men" with an invitation to perform with other valley high schools for the half-time show at the Sun Devil Stadium on ASU Band Day. At the Arizona State Fair, the West High Band, almost rained out, sloshed through a day away from school.

Not all band activities were musical. During the football season, the band good-naturedly served a buffet dinner for the visiting Salpointe Band. Throughout the year, band members in civilian clothing were seen selling candy, tickets to car washes, and anything else of value to meet the $3500 budget for their spring trip to California.

As a result of the efforts of the hard-working Orchestra Council, the various activities of the West High Orchestra, from a special concert in Las Vegas to a spaghetti dinner, ran smoothly. (See Activities Index for identification of both pictures.)

"Allegro or Andante", the 1966-1967 West High Orchestra was exceptional. This active group presented several concerts featuring such beautiful music as "Schubert's Unfinished Symphony", "Cello Concerto", "Overtime and Allegro," and "Capriccio". The audiences ranged from grade school students to the West High Student Body.

Many of the Orchestra's members participated in other orchestras around the valley. Among these "outside" musical groups were the Phoenix Symphony Youth Orchestra, the Phoenix College Community Orchestra, the Master Wind Ensemble, and the Phoenix Symphonette.

Climaxing a successful year, the sixty-five talented musicians performed for the Music Educator's National Conference at Las Vegas, the greatest honor extended to an Arizona high school orchestra. While at the conference, they presented "Llano Estacado" which was composed by Ronald Lo Presti, resident composer at Arizona State University. This number had previously been played only by the Arizona State University Symphony Orchestra.

In addition to their musical activities, the Orchestra members passed some of their time in the field of business. Money had to be earned for the trip to Las Vegas and for music camp scholarships. Working toward this goal, the members of the Orchestra sold fruitcakes, tickets to the Spaghetti dinner sponsored by the Orchestra Parents' Organization, and naturally, tickets to a special money raising concert.

Members of the West High Productions class practiced the fine art of dancing. The girls received instruction in basic dance techniques, practice in dance choreography, and an opportunity to perform for various audiences. (See Activities Index for identification.)

PRODUCTIONS

Members of Productions spent a busy semester coreographing and rehearsing dances for three projects: a football half-time show, a children's show, and a workshop for seventh and eighth graders.

At the beginning of the year, the girls selected their music and worked out patterns for the Halloween atmosphere of the half-time show. Strange music and weird costumes transformed the girls into ghosts, goblins, skeletons, pumpkins, and witches.

Almost before packing away the pumpkin costumes, the girls began work on a presentation for nursery school children, "A Visit With Mother Goose". Toddlers from all over the valley saw Old King Cole, Little Boy Blue, Chicken Little, giants, fairies, and some funny dancing bags during one of the show's three presentations.

Hoping to interest elementary school girls in West's dance program, Productions designed a workshop to teach some dance techniques and present some problems for the girls to solve. One of the groups of future dancers was asked to give an impression of glue. The result was a blob of linked, writhing girls in an "oozing" dance.

Hours of work went into each project. Each one gave the girls new insight into the method and joy of expression using the body in a series of controlled movements — dance.

A wall of mirrors in the dance room helps Penne Melick and Robin Redding assume the best position for the mood of their music.

Molly Colburn and Gwen Hurst pause to catch their breath and see how other dances are coming along.

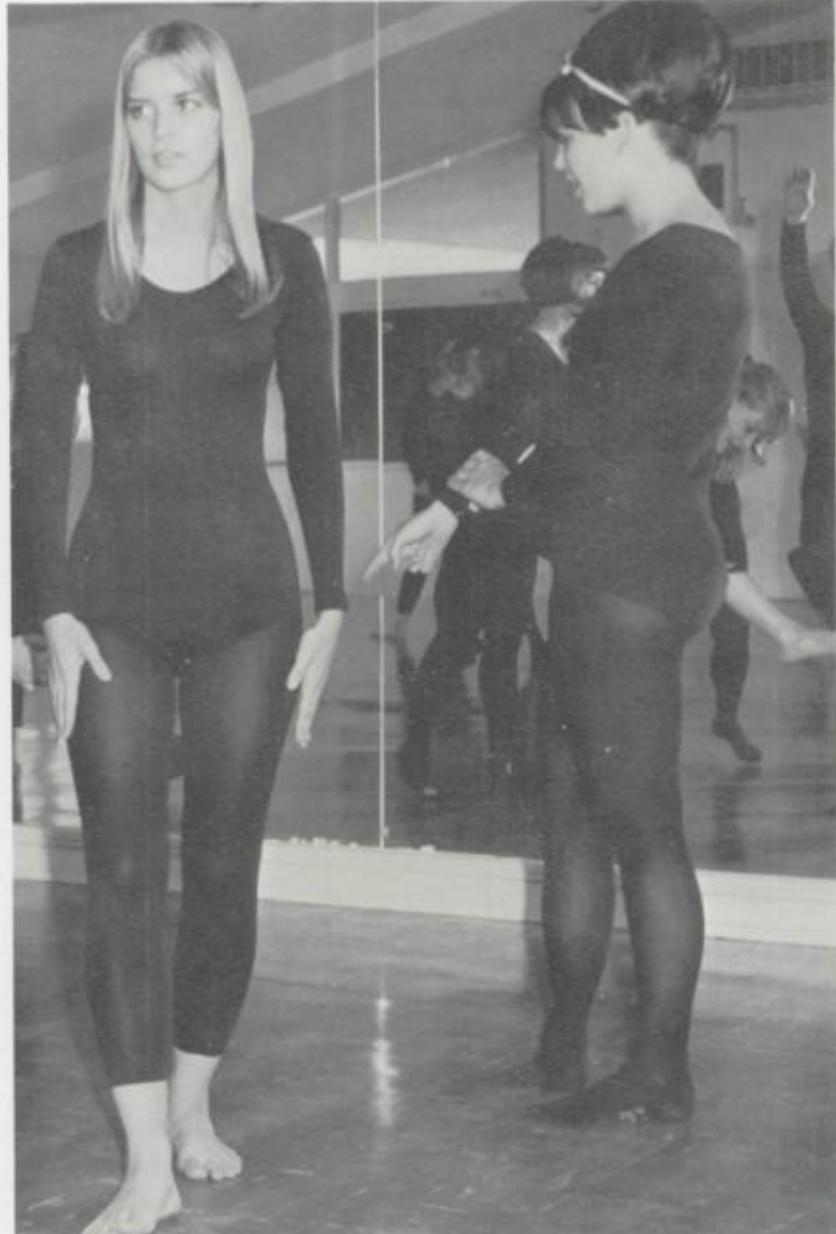

Each position in a dance must contribute to the idea and general effect of the dance as a whole. Diann Mahoney arranges Laurie Simon's arms to fit into the pattern.

Searching for just the right effect, Penne Melick and Robin Redding try several positions before deciding.

Second semester meant only one thing to Productions — the West-Central dance concert. Choosing "Highlights in American History" as their theme, the girls set to work. Planning, practice, and rehearsal after rehearsal led the girls right up to the night of the performance.

The show featured American history from the Revolution to the "Roaring Twenties" to the Beatles. Central made the first presentation, "The Struggle for Independence", which depicted colonization, unrest, and then the Revolution and independence. Skipping a few years, West presented a dance interpretation of "The Problem in the South" — beginning with the struggling within slavery, organizing into rebellion, and finally attaining freedom. "The Opening of the West" was presented, naturally, by West. The dance highlighted important moments of the Western movement: tearing up stakes in the East, conquering the mountains and plains, the early settlers, the wild, wild West, and finally, after great effort, statehood and the fulfillment of Manifest Destiny. Central produced its idea of "The 20's and What Followed", complete with flappers and gangsters only to be wiped out by black-hooded depression. "December 7, 1941" West's girls depicted Pearl Harbor, patriotism, separations, and tragedy. Modern times and the mod group were represented in "The Young People Speak," with West girls in miniskirts going from the jitterbug, to the twist, to all the modern go-go gyrations. To finish America's story, senior dancers from both West and Central predicted "The Future" in their traditional farewell dance.

The strains of "A Taste of Honey" and the yells of "West Train" are familiar sounds whenever Pom pon girls and Cheerleaders are around. Together the girls spurred our sports teams to some of the greatest victories they have ever known. T-shirts, ties and chocolate-chip cookies were just some of the tokens given by the lines to support the football, basketball, baseball, track, and wrestling teams. Along with the band, the girls represented West at the State Fair.

Cheer

Trips to Yuma and Tucson for football and basketball games and to Redlands to participate in the annual Cheerleading camp highlighted the year for the Cheerleaders. Selling megaphones, cookies, and popsicles, in addition to daily practice, has kept the girls busy.

Dancing for games, assemblies, dance concerts, and special appearances has given the Pom pon girls plenty to do. Since their selection last February, the girls have sponsored car washes, bake sales, and a rummage sale. Choosing new girls on February 9th, traditionally "retired" this year's all-senior line, although they continued to dance out the year.

With rousing chants the peppy cheerleaders raise spirit for the coming game.

Enthusiastically encouraging the Thunderbirds to gain another six points, the Pom pon girls find that sitting is virtually impossible.

With the true West story as a goal, the '66-'67 WESTERNER Staff gathered the year's events for the yearbook's memory-filled chapters. Under the direction of Liz Willers, the only junior editor in the history of West, the members of the staff struggled to meet deadline after deadline.

Plans for the WESTERNER were begun early in the summer. As the year progressed, pictures were taken to record all the memorable events of the school year, layouts were drawn up to organize pictures and copy into attractive arrangements, and copy was written to finish the story begun by each picture. Bit by bit, the pieces of the WESTERNER were finished — class pictures, football, Homecoming, Honors, basketball, Life, Activities, Clubs, spring sports, administration . . .

By minimizing mistakes and doing much of the work themselves, the members of the staff were able to overcome the financial difficulties caused by no pre-sale through Activity Tickets; by careful planning and cooperation they were able to produce a memorable record of the '66-'67 school year, the WESTERNER.

GENERAL STAFF — Susie Dichter, Suzanne Utter, and Vivian Gulliver spent much of yearbook class out of class. Often better named "yearbook runners," members of the staff were sent to such distant sections of West as the football fields, the annex, the administration office, and maintenance to get important information for the WESTERNER. The girls were responsible for all necessary identification for indexing, which led to stopping complete strangers in the halls to identify another complete stranger in the picture.

ART STAFF — Originality and creativity, musts for the art staff, were combined to form interesting, attractive layouts. The girls, Pat Wade, Liz Willers, and Sharon Paulsen, art editors, arranged pictures and copy into a pleasing combination of black, white, and gray shapes to attract more readers and create the proper atmosphere for the many memories of the WESTERNER.

COPY STAFF — Responsible for every word in the WESTERNER, members of the copy staff, Debbie Tscharner, Michelle Wheeler, copy editor, and Judy Yates, found theirs a world of whirling picas, synonyms, deadlines, interviews and disconnected thoughts. These — combined with hours taken from school time, night time, and time-off searching for just the right word — helped preserve each memory stored in the WESTERNER.

TYPING STAFF — Strangely spelled, out-of-their-proper-order, almost unreadable words marched past the WESTERNER typists each day, just the first of the many typist traps. There was typed copy to proofread, printed copy to proofread, and finished copy to paste-down. The staff, Jan Brooks, Pam Housholder, and Suzy Laue worked on, allowing a minimum of errors to dim the memories recorded in the WESTERNER.

Co-ordinating this year's activities were editors Rick Shindell, Sherrie Paquette, and Cindy Champagne.

SUNDIAL

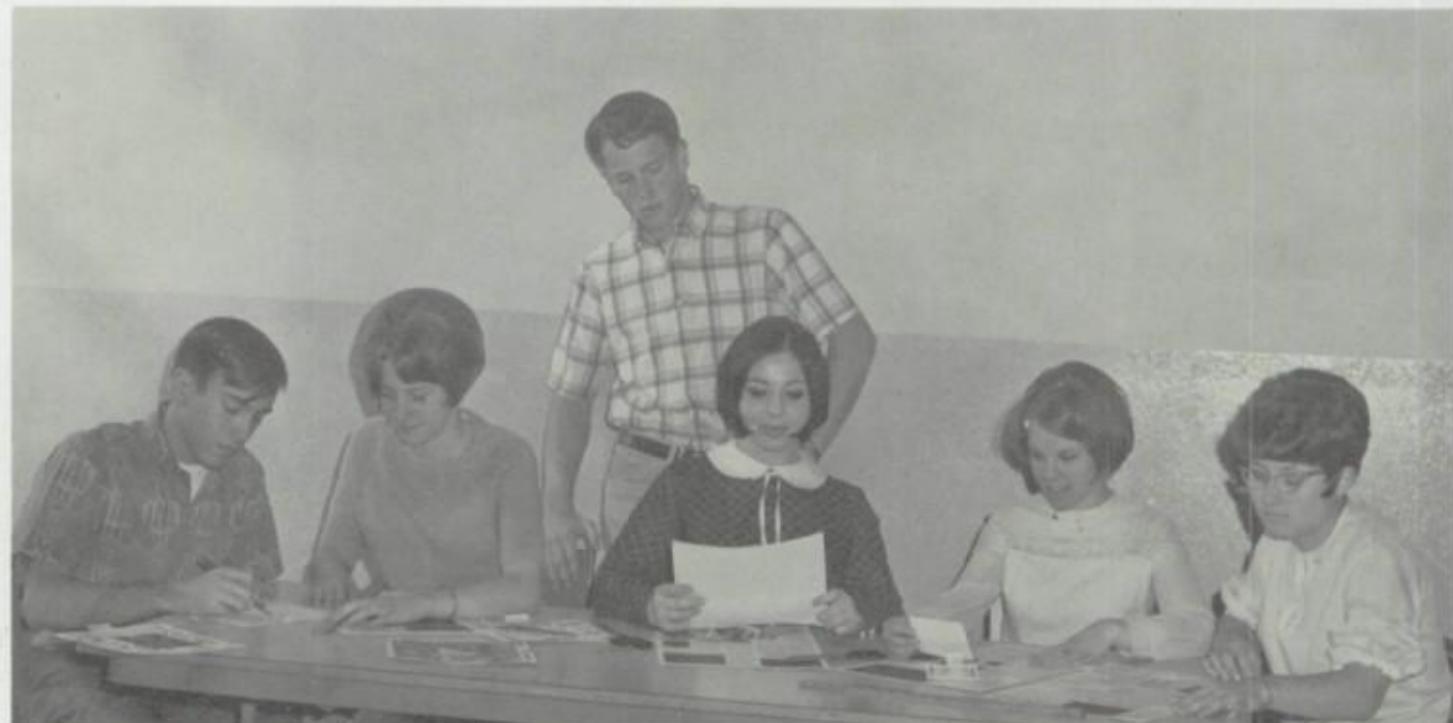

New ideas for the Sun Dial were plentiful when its three co-editors — Cindy Champagne, Sherrie Paquette, and Rick Shindell — put their heads together. All juniors, the editors organized their almost completely "green" staff into a hardworking unit. News from every corner of the campus — athletic achievements, club activities, Homecoming, Rodeo, elections, individual honors, everything — found its way into the interesting columns of the Sun Dial.

A new department of the staff, the Editorial Board, initiated the cafeteria clean-up campaign, just another example of the originality of this year's staff. The group of journalism 3-4 students and the three editors originated the idea and presented it effectively in the Sun Dial to create a successful campaign.

Hours of thought and effort went into each issue of the Sun Dial. Reports were written up in journalistic form, checked for grammar and punctuation, then sent to be printed. After receiving the columns from the printer, they were cut to fit onto the pages properly and sent to be published. Only after the staff had completed these time-consuming tasks could the student body of West High read the often funny and always informative Sun Dial.

The Ad and Business staffs are responsible for the basic financial stability of the paper. The most essential people responsible for producing the Sun Dial are Chere Boy, Ad Staff, Jan Spore, Business Manager, Linda Reed, Ad Manager and Pat Parnell, Ad Staff.

The Military Department has been a permanent fixture at West ever since the school opened in 1949. This year, under the guidance of Staff Sergeant Joseph Savick, Commandant of Cadets, and headed by Cadet Commander, Lt. Col. John Lumm, the West High R.O.T.C. Battalion has reached new heights: enrollment was up almost 50% over last year.

The junior R.O.T.C. offers a program which is unlike any other at West. This program offers a strong course in citizenship and leadership. Every person is given responsibilities to fulfill. Besides these courses, there are others in Marksmanship, First Aid, and Military Tactics. The purpose of the course is not to train the students for military service, but to make them well-rounded citizens.

The West High Battalion currently holds the Best Battalion Streamer for the City Brigade. The Battalion has been called upon to help in such various school activities as guides for Open House, performances of the Drill Team and Color Guard at various school functions, and helping in Homecoming Activities. The R.O.T.C. has also helped in various community functions such as the Gompers Barbeque, Rodeo Parade, and the Veterans' Day Parade.

The Battalion Staff is directly under the charge of Battalion Commander C/Lt. Col. John Lumm. The Staff takes care of all paper work and any other mechanics to insure a smoothly running Battalion. Included in the staff are C/Major Fred Ryan, Battalion Executive Officer; C/Major Alan Spillers, Adjutant; C/Capt. Paul Metchik, Public Informations Officer; C/Major Mark Crigler, Training Officer; and C/Capt. Chris Minnick, Supply Officer.

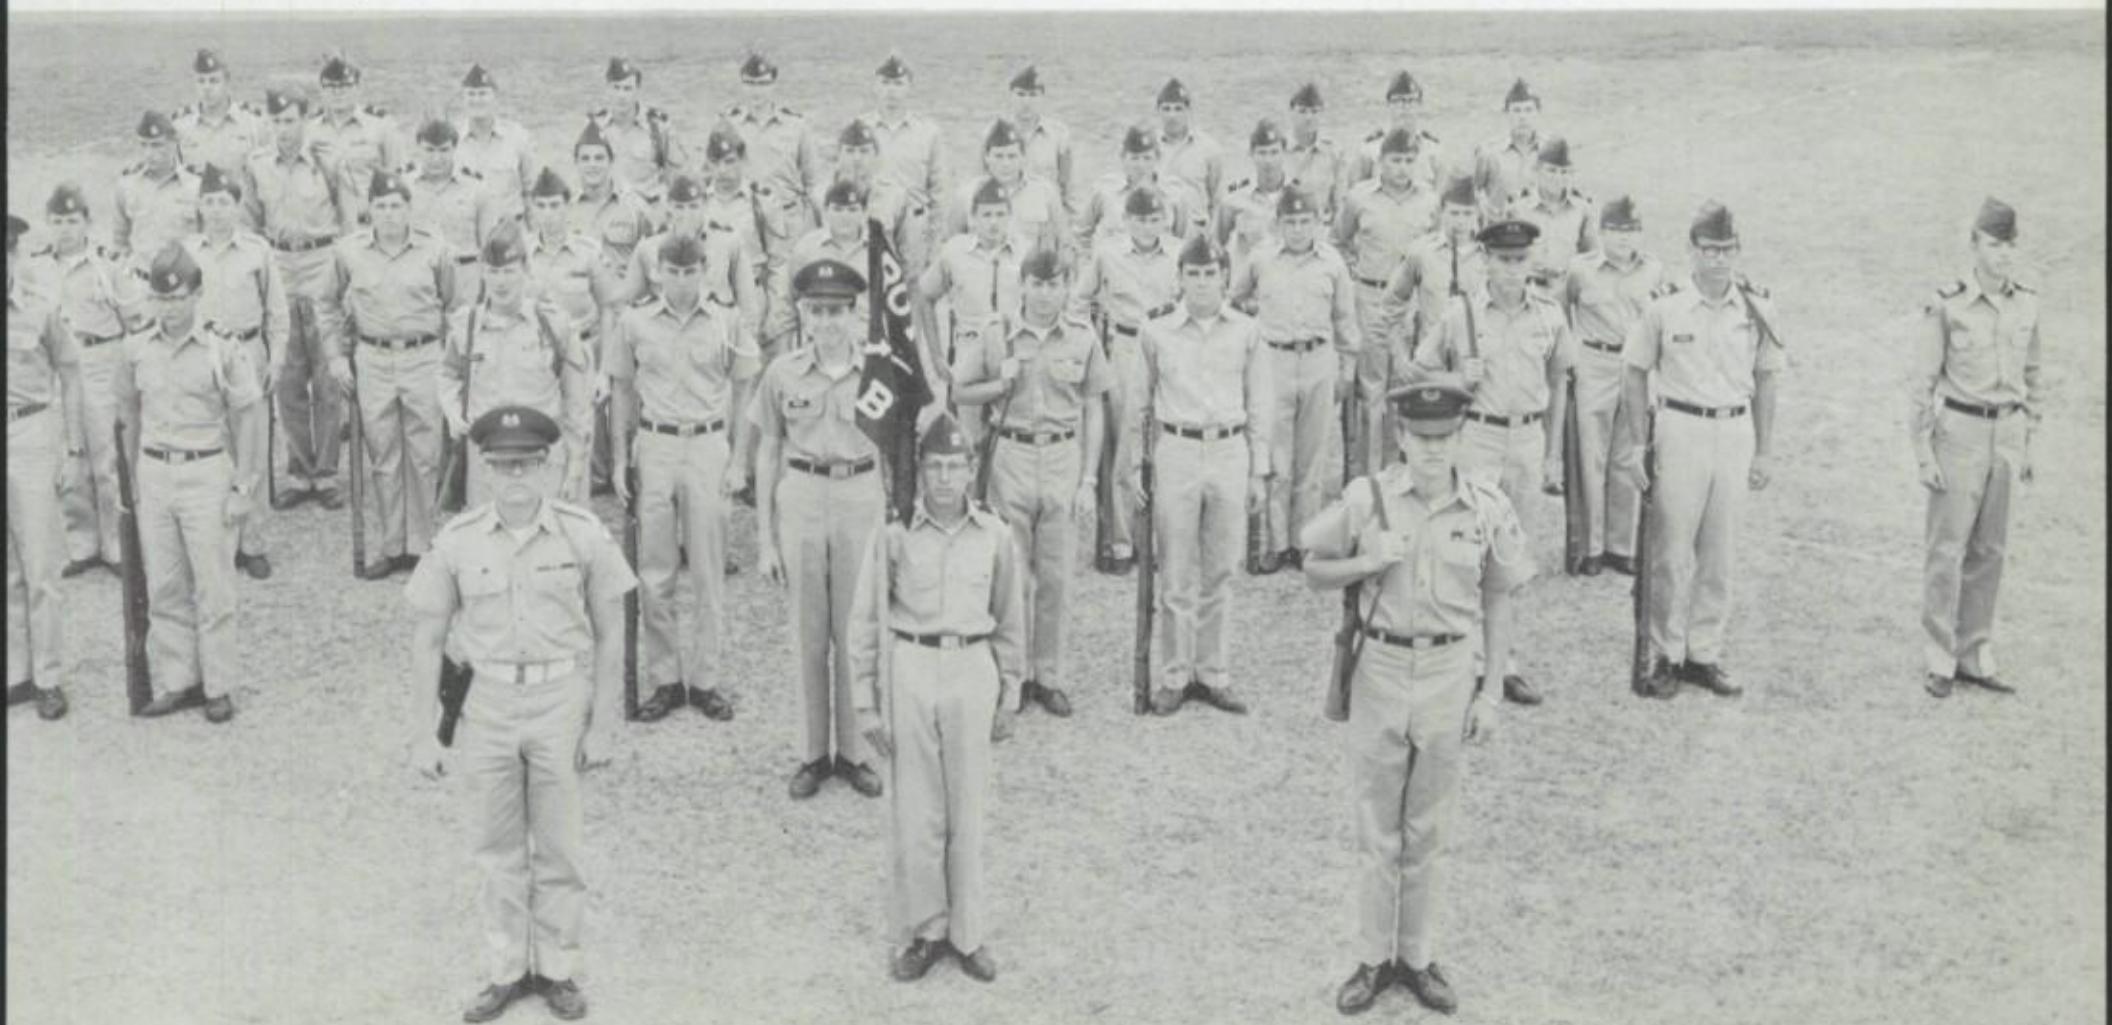

The Battalion Color Guard is under the command of C/Sgt. Eugene Wood. The color guard presents the Battalion, State, and National colors at all battalion functions. Members of the color guard raise the flag every morning in the front of the school. They raise the colors in a formal ceremony every Friday morning. This year, the color guard has performed at PTA meetings, the Veterans' Day Parade, Key Club Convention, and raised the colors at the Golden Gloves Finals.

The West High Exhibition Drill team is under the command of C/Capt. Alan Kakoleski, also A Company Commander. The sixteen man team spends many hours practicing precision exhibition movements, including rifle passes with bayonets. The Drill Team has been called upon by the school many times to perform at such events as the Veterans' Day Assembly, Homecoming, and PTA meetings. Other performances include the Veterans' Day Parade, Lincoln's Birthday Parade, Rodeo Parade, Samuel Gompers' Parade, and Federal Inspection. The Drill Team currently holds the Best Drill Team Streamer for the city.

C/Lt. Greg Lumm, and C/Lt. Al Bowers command first, second, third, and fourth platoons respectively.

Out of the Frying Pan

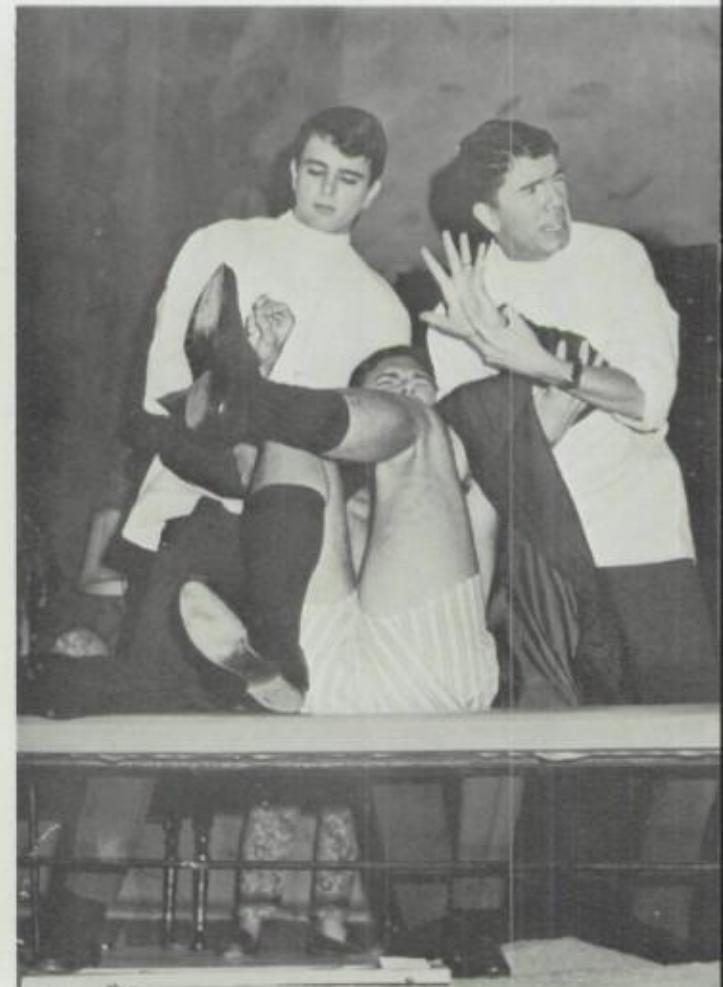

Fast moving and funny, "Out of the Frying Pan" represented the first major effort of the Drama Department. A major effort it was, as participants painted scenes, memorized lines, found props, rehearsed, made costumes, and practiced techniques — all to achieve perfection before opening night.

Members of the cast, John Sankovich, Alan Paul, Sue

Murphy, Pete Sownie, Linda Sadick, Jan Sownie, Edlyn Soderman, Barbie Baker, Charles Rhapsom, Bob Shimer, Dennis Magary, and Tom Bell rehearsed for hours: after school, late at night, even in their sleep.

On opening night, all the weeks of hard work were brought together into one humorous and successful comedy with a place among West's best presentations.

Strange things come out of old trunks and none could be stranger than John Sankovich during a moment of madness as Pete Sownie will agree.

Hoping for their big break, Dottie (Barbie Baker), Marge (Edlyn Soderman), and Muriel (Linda Sadick) practice the opening scene of their play with feeling.

"Dear God, please send us a producer!" is the heartfelt plea of the young actors as they become more and more discouraged.

"Thank God we got here in time!" exclaims Norman (Alan Paul) as he and Tony (Pete Sownie) take "crazy" George (John Sankovich) away.

Bodies are in abundance as Dottie, Marge, Kate, Norman, and George put the finishing touches on the play which represents their key to success.

After lunch, Kathy Lamontagne and Karen Stewart just relax and talk before returning to the lectures and homework assignments of the classroom.

Really deep concentration requires some unusual pose. Deep in thought working on WESTERNER copy, Michelle Wheeler seems to have found hers.

Shyness sets in as unlucky Karen Westbrook and Melanie Jett find themselves looking at the wrong end of a donkey "in front of all these people!"

SPORTS

On the run, quarterback John Padelford, cocks his arm as he starts to fire a pass to end Steve Saunders, in the second quarter of West's 14-13 victory over the Salpointe Lancers. This combination was quite efficient throughout the season.

"Now's the time to hit!" Coach Philpot directs his interior linemen Terry Miller, Jim Kopchak, and Dave Moore during anxious moments of West High's Homecoming victory over North High. Kopchak seems to know the way he's going to hit his man.

Like falling dominoes — Members of the North Mustangs' defensive squad tumble down in unison on Kirk Gamble during the big Homecoming win. Six other victims of the T-Birds fell just as hard as the 1966 West High Varsity rolled up an impressive 7-2 record.

Overcoming injuries to several key players, a pre-seasonal unranked squad of Thunderbird gridders played inspired ball to rack up an over-all 7-2-1 record and a final ranking of sixth place in state polls and second place in divisional standings.

Guided by Coach Larry Philpot and his assistants, Mr. Don Bicknell and Mr. Bob Widmer, the team became heralded as one of the finest defensive eleven in Arizona, as they held their opponents to two touchdowns or less in each game.

The 22 seniors and 18 juniors started slowly but built up such momentum during the season that the final outcome for the title of 3AA Division Champions was not decided until the final game night of the season. West played like pros that night as they came from behind to drop Alhambra, 14-6; however, the win was all in vain, as Maryvale, a 10-0 victim of the Thunderbirds the previous week, scored the ever important win over Phoenix Union to nail down the number one spot.

Using the foot of soccer-style kicker, Luis Vega, and the team leadership of quarterbacks, Ben Schaub and John Padelford, and defensive captain, Gary Williams, the varsity recorded its best season in 10 years. Vega came off the bench to boot victories over Carl Hayden, Central, Salpointe, and North with his unusual style of kicking, giving Thunderbird fans thrills they will long remember. For his steady play all season, Williams was selected to the first string of the All State defensive team, the first string of Division III defensive squad, and the winner of the Jim Edwards Memorial trophy as West High's outstanding player.

What the Varsity team lacked in size, they made up in determination and spirit. Led by co-captains John Padelford and Gary Williams, the efforts of the team resulted in an impressive 7-2-1 season record and in a second place division rating.

Hop, Skip, & Jump . . . This seems to be the easiest way for halfback, Kirk Gamble to maneuver a play over Walter Lawrence in the intra-squad game. In the pre-seasonal clash the White eleven toppled the Maroons 28-7.

Cheering and yelling ceases after the Central game while students show their pride in their school and victorious team by singing the Alma Mater.

"Gotcha" That's what this Camelback Spartan thinks as he waits for ball carrier, John Padelford, as West's quarterback maneuvers for a first down. John Jasso lends Padelford a helpful block in this away game which resulted in West's second and final loss.

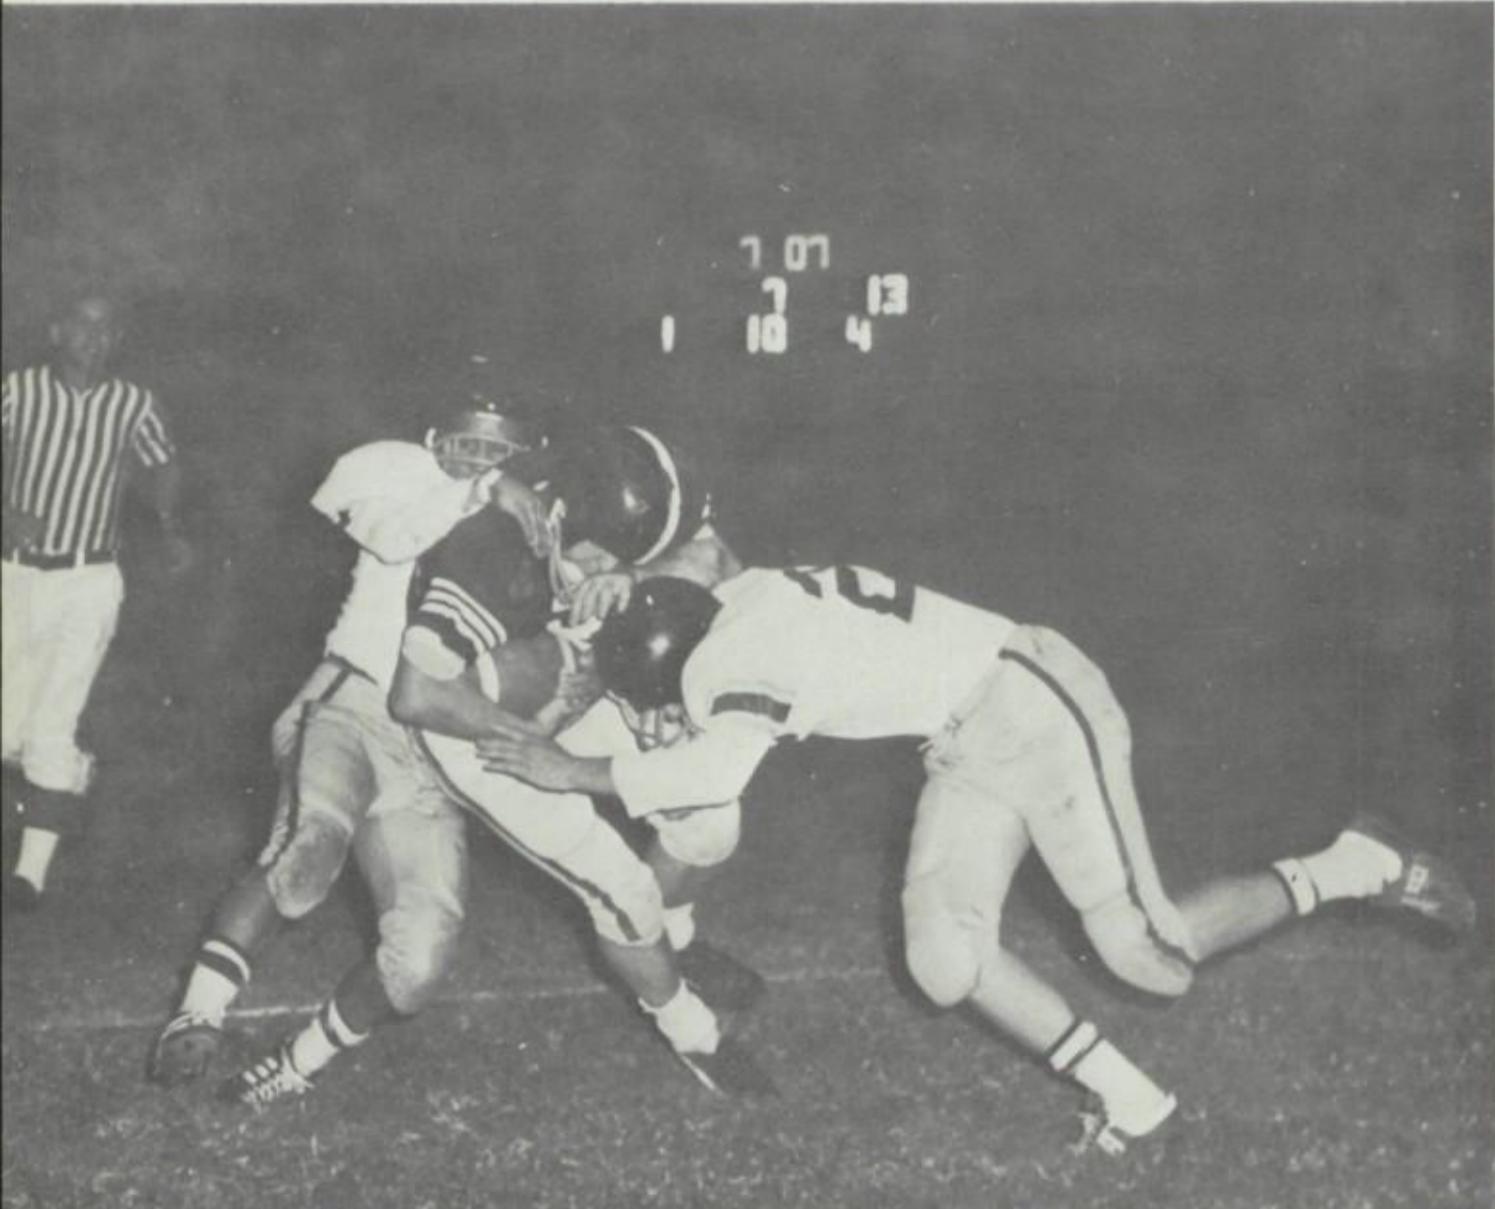

"GET 'EM, DANNY, GET 'EM" the crowd roars as end, Danny White lunges to stop Phoenix Union's Smith, (44). Wendell, (24) seems to be giving the ball carrier a helpful shove, but to no avail; this tilt ended in a frustrating 6-6 deadlock.

SQUASH!!! Looks as if halfback, Jim Sanson, is getting it from all sides in the fourth quarter of the Salpointe game. As the scoreboard indicates in the background, West trailed the Lancers at this time; however, Kirk Gamble scored on a short pass and Vega kicked the PAT for our win.

Closing in on a Falcon gridder Mark Van Hoesen (42) attempts to break the advance of the Carl Hayden team in its unsuccessful effort to knock down West, which triumphed 3-0.

Closing in on the ball carrier, a determined John Jasso gets ready to bring down Camelback's Catalanette (11). Gary Williams trails the action while Ken Schaub looks on from an uneasy position. The Spartans handed the T-Birds their second and last loss of the season.

Destined to become varsity players, the Freshman B team, fought hard the entire season. Their overall record was 2-7. headed by top men, Jack Erb (54), and Robert Wallace (30). (See Activities Index for identification.)

West's All-State forward Carl LeSueur, who has broken all existing scoring records, (in upper photo), drives past two lions from Alhambra on his way to another basket. (In lower photo), Carl displays his magic touch by seemingly casting a spell over a loose ball. His action on the court brought him selection as captain of the All-Division team, All-Varsity first team, and both Tucson and Phoenix newspapers' first string All-State Five.

Coach Fred Roche's high-flying Thunderbird five gave West's students their finest basketball season since they finished second in the state in 1957, ranking fifth in the top teams of the AA schools, second in Division III standings, and making the divisional play-offs for the first time in five years.

The varsity quintet opened the 1966-67 season with an easy win over East High and did not suffer a defeat until the semifinals of the Christmas Tournament in which they placed fourth. Playing without all-state forward Carl LeSueur, who was out with an ankle injury, the T-Birds dropped two tourney tilts and their record fell to 8 and 2.

In the divisional playoffs, the Rochemen opened against a fired up squad of Arcadia Titans, but came away with a thrilling, come-from-behind, last minute win. The next night, however, the tables were turned, and the Thunderbirds chances for a position in the state finals went winging out the window when Alhambra came from behind in the fourth period to claim the victory.

Highlights of the season were found in the many come-from-behind wins, the almost win in the second Phoenix Union tilt, and the big victory over Camelback when LeSueur fired in 46 points to set another school record.

With five juniors returning, headed by Karpinski and Bill Pellett, West could have another banner year in 67-68.

As the new year began, Coach Roche, assisted by Coach Joe Barragon, fired the team along for three wins until being derailed by the state's number one team and eventual state champion, Phoenix Union. Not to be denied, West's big three, LeSueur, Denny Franklin, and Ken Darpinski, led the squad on another win rampage racking up six more until being dropped by Alhambra and Phoenix Union. These losses were sandwiched around a win over Carl Hayden, and the regular season play came to an end with West owning 19-6 overall and 14-3 division records.

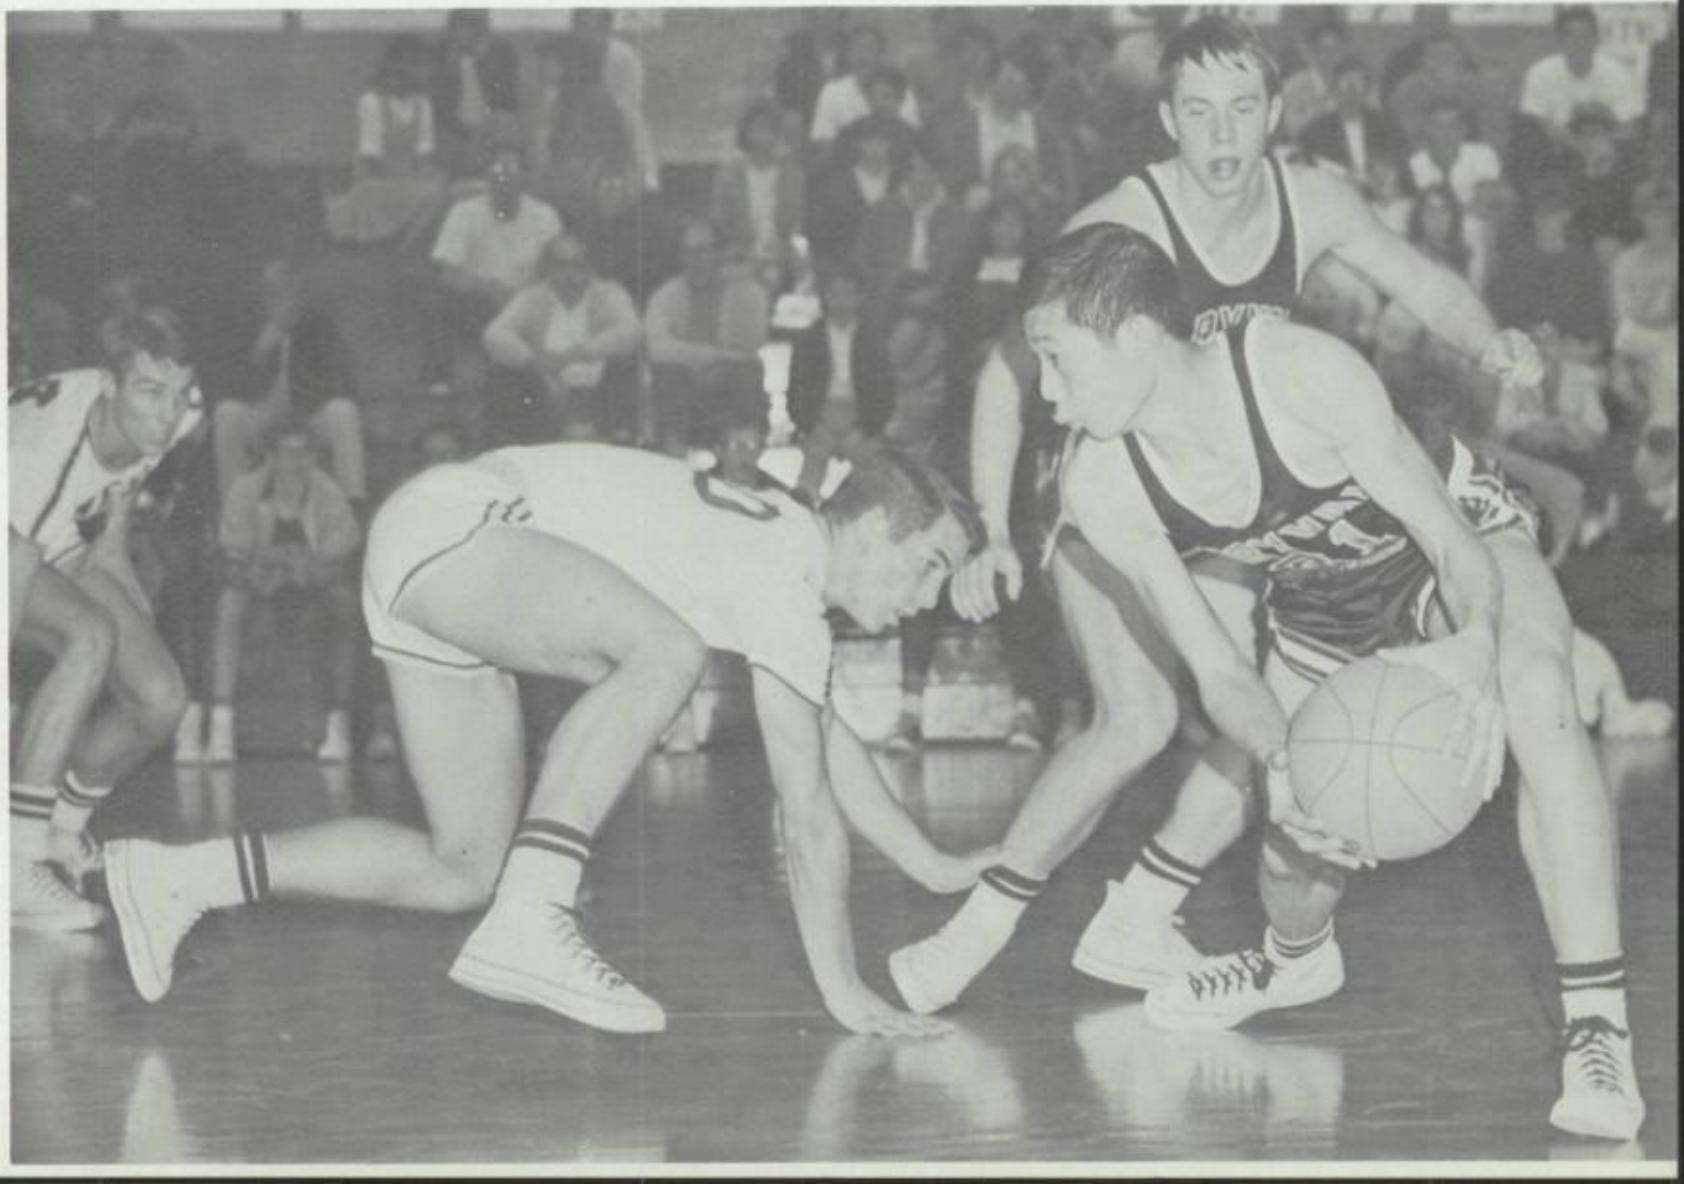

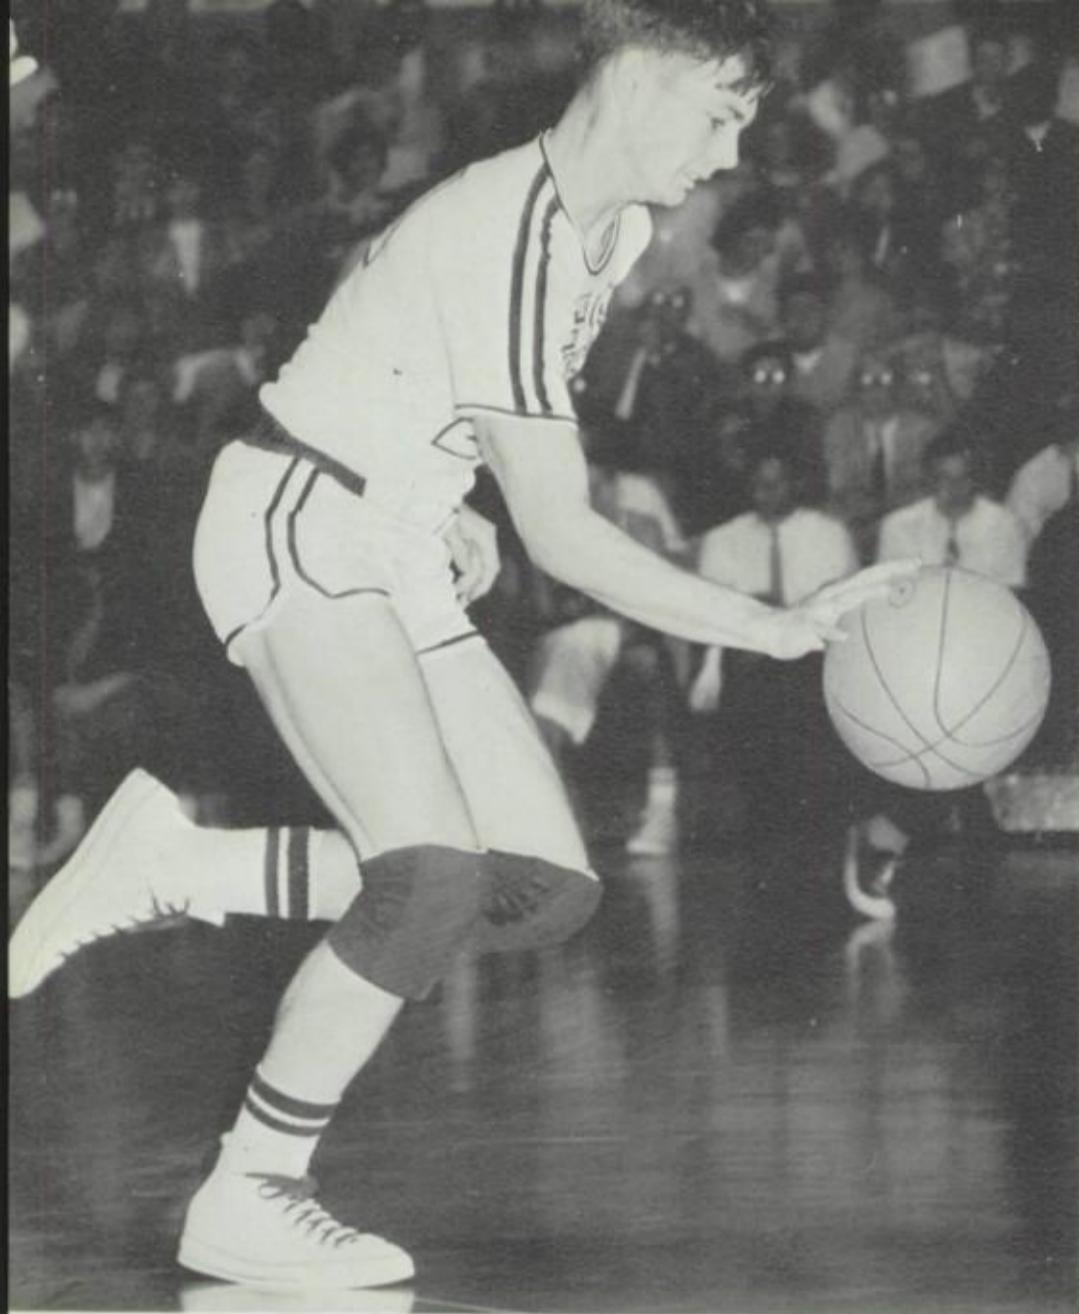

During the pre-game warm-up of the West High-Phoenix Union battle, John Lumm fires a shot from the free throw line as highly interested Morrison, Price, and Karpinski look on. (No Paul, that's not Superman up there!)

BASKETBALL

Assist by Price — To set up another basket by a teammate, Paul Price fires the ball over the head of a Rebel cager on home grounds during the West-South clash. The T-birds stepped all over South as they took their second game from the Rebs with an 89-59 win. (Okay Price, off his toes!)

in all four—Ken Schaub proves that the Rocheman were taught to keep after the ball at all costs as he pursues a Maryvale Panther in the T-Birds' 63-60 win. (That'll be fifteen yards for holding, Ken!)

Look Mom... one leg!!! Forward John Padelford displays one of his vain expressions as he dribbles the ball on West's court in one of the season's most thrilling battles against the Camelback Spartans. Throughout this game, the T-Birds maintained a lead to overcome the Spartans for an 83-72 victory. Carl LeSueur broke all gym records in this game with his 46 points.

Head Coach Fred Roche, assisted by J.V. Coach Joe Barragon, successfully guided the 1966-67 Thunderbird cagers through one of their most impressive seasons in the past ten years. With captain Carl LeSueur pacing the T-Birds with an average 23.3 points per game, the squad finished this season with an overall record of 19-6 and second place in the division with a 13-3 record.

Get that ball !!! Junior Ken Schaub takes part in a foot race with two North players as they scramble for a loose ball in the T-Bird-Mustang battle on the West High court. The game was a tight struggle all the way until the last few minutes when the Rochemen forged ahead for a 59-53 win. ("Here's an elbow for you," says Ken.)

What's the matter, sonny? A Maryvale Panther displays an expression of helplessness as he attempts to block Carl LeSueur who is on a drive to score two during the Maryvale game at West. Bill Pellett stands ready to assist LeSueur in the play.

On a Drive . . . Dennis Franklin moves ahead of an Alhambra Lion as he drives to score two for the T-Birds. Except for a 23-23 score at half-time, the Lions led the game until the final seconds when John Lumm sank a decisive free shot to leave the score 60-59. (. . . and what did you want to say, Carl?)

Johnny on the move — In West's final game of the season, the play-off loss at Phoenix Union, John Lumm scurts past an Alhambra guard to move into position to set up another basket for the Rochemen. (No Carl, this isn't a square dance!)

Tip it to a T-Bird, Karp! On the home court of the West High Thunderbirds, Junior Ken Karpinski attempts to out-jump his Pueblo opponent in the opening of the second half when the Rocheman led 31-27. This victory kept the T-Birds in the undefeated margin with a 5-0 record.

With the high performances of Fred LeSueur, Tim Obermeyer, and Ray Villemmez, West High's Thunderbolts, under the guidance of Ed Ranshaw, tallied a final seasonal record of 11 wins and 5 losses. Although the freshmen got off to a slow start with a 1-3 record, they finished the season winning six straight battles. (See Activity Index for identification.)

Bill Munson's Thunderchicks closed this year's basketball season with a handsome record of 11 wins and 4 losses. David Pfeiffer led the Chicks with an average 12.5 points per game. Charley Thomson and Lance Cypert followed with averages of 8.0 and 7.7 respectively. (See Activity Index for identification.)

The junior varsity Thunderbird squad, under the direction of Coach Joe Barragon, finished this year's season with a 13-6 record. Barragon's top three scorers were John Carpenter, Dennis Schaub, and Steve Greer. For his impressive performance during the games, Carpenter was moved up to varsity during divisional play-offs. GOLF

Boys' Golf — Coach Bill Munson's varsity golf team, after completing half of its season, compiled an impressive 7-3 record to put them in a comfortable position to compete in the divisional playoffs which took place in April.

BASEBALL

The T-Bird baseballers opened up the season on March 7 in an away game with the Arcadia Titans winning with an 8-3 score. As the season progressed the T-Birds were handicapped by errors which were the result of a 3-7 record at the half-way point of the season.

This year, Coach Jim Stitt was hailed with a number of returning lettermen as well as prospective newcomers.

Despite the games that were lost by only one point, the T-Birds had a number of impressive wins.

WEST HIGH'S J.V. BASEBALLERS — At the season's mid-point, the J.V. baseball team, under the guidance of Coach Ed Ranshaw, compiled a 4-6 record with eight games remaining to be played. The squad was led by hitters Don Foutz, who was moved up to varsity after nine games, Johnny Bethell, and Darryl Long. Doing the majority of the team's pitching was Dan Kelly, who possessed a 1-2 pitching record at the half-way mark of the season. (See Activities Index for identification.)

JUNIOR VARSITY

FRESHMEN BASEBALLERS — Coach Reg Mathew's frosh baseball team composed a 3-4 record at the mid-point of the season. The squad was led by hitters Charles Thompson, Delmar Jorralmon, and Fred Sotelo who maintained batting averages of .400, .333, and .310 respectively. Matthews' most valuable hurler, Ron Beckman, who was moved up to J.V. after claiming a 2-2 pitching record, was replaced by Charles Thompson at the mid-point of the season. (See Activities Index for identification.)

Pitcher Paul Price proved to be one of Coach Jim Stitt's most valuable hurlers through the first half of the T-Bird's season.

WARMING UP — These T-Birds take time before this home game to practice distant throwing with fellow players. (All of them except for you, Dave!)

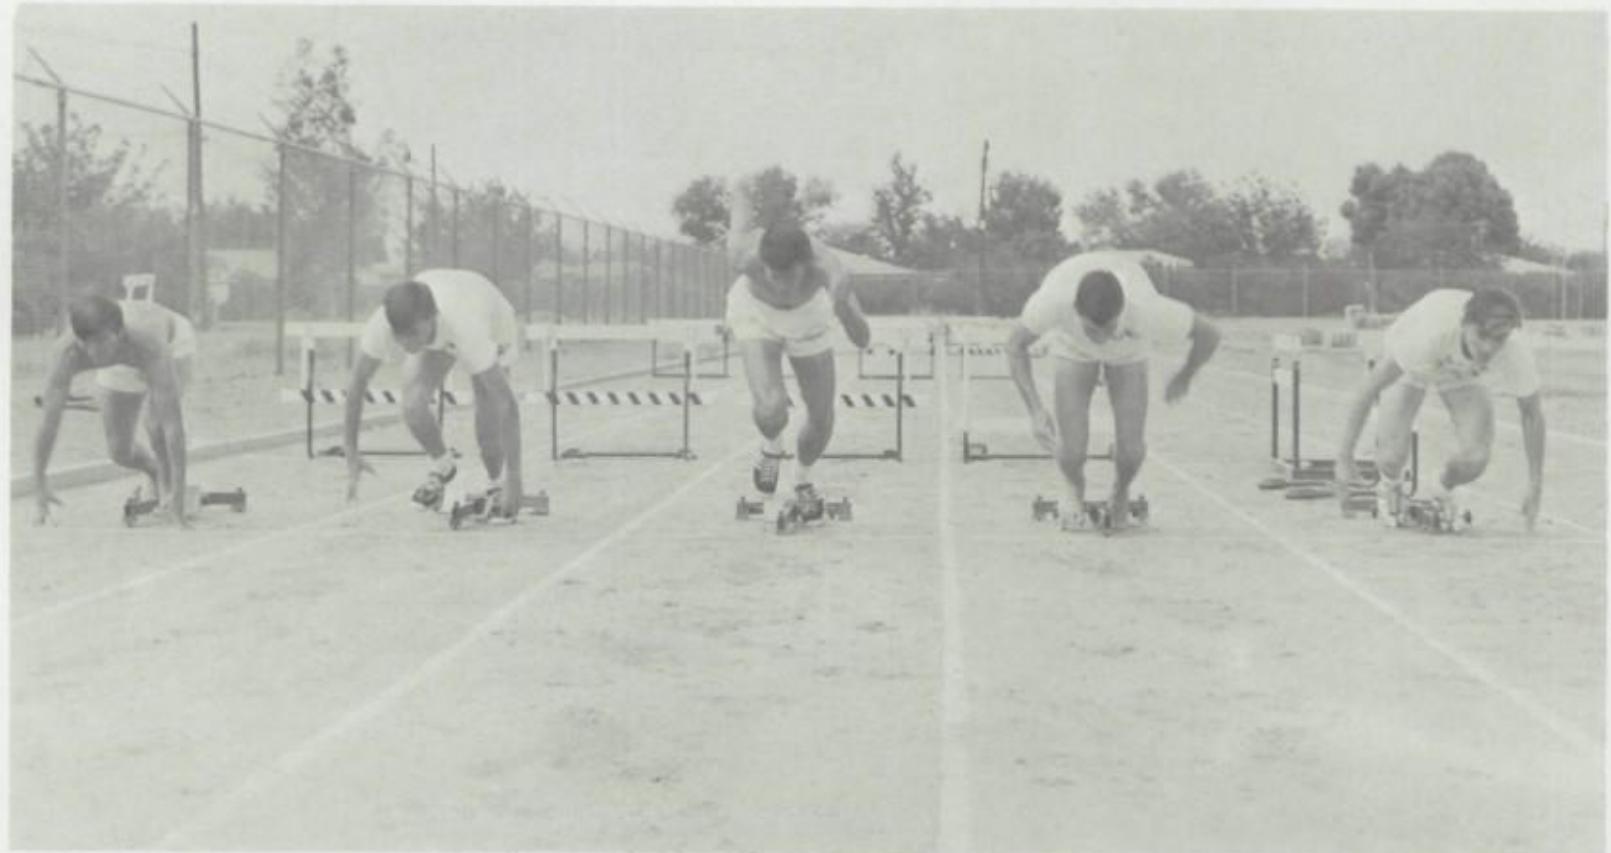

WEST'S THINCLADS — This year's varsity track team which includes fourteen seniors, has broken numerous track records established by former West students. Coach Dale Torrence is losing the valuable services of such seniors as Steve Cross, who has broken the one and two-mile records, Jim Markakis, who broke the one-half mile record, and Davey Moore, who is among the top ten vaulters in the state. (See Activities Index for all identification) order to complete a satisfactory jump. Dennis Franklin, Danny White, Arvid Magnuson, and Terry Flynn stand by to get pointers.

These four underclassmen served as the Varsity 880-yard relay team. The four — Kirk Gamble, Arvid Magnuson, Greg Curtis, and Danny White — not only lost few races to competing teams, but also were determined to be one of the top underclassmen relay teams in the city.

A typical work-out for this and other sprinters is warmup laps around the track followed by practicing off the starting blocks.

ON THEIR HIGH HORSE — Coach Larry Philpot's top J.V. hurdlers this year are Steve Boss, Charlie Cross, Chris Miller, and Kirk Gamble. Their top performances throughout the season has proved them to be some of the best in the city.

This year, Senior Danny White was one of the varsity's most valuable broad jumpers.

VARSITY SHOT-PUT TEAM —
This relay team, composed of seniors Jim Mullens, Randy Lowe and Danny Otis gave such rough competition to competing teams this season that they were considered among the top teams in Division III.

THE JUNIOR VARSITY track team, under Coach Larry Philpot, are looking forward to next year's season as many of them will be good building material for the varsity squad. Many composed teams that established new J.V. track records. (See Activities Index for identification.)

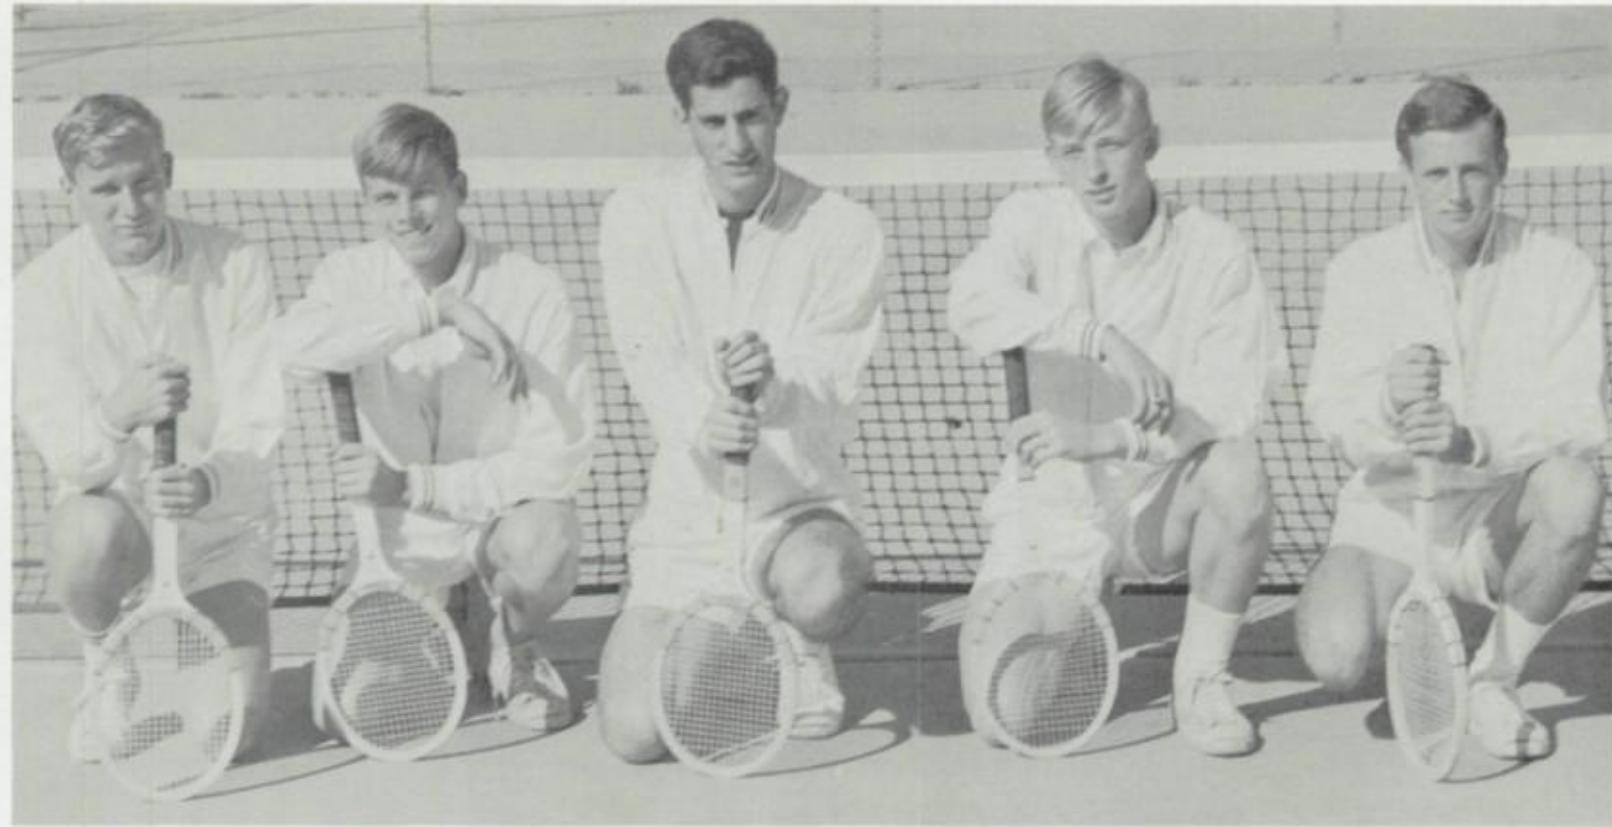

ARCHERY

The girls' archery team started off its season on April 8 when Mrs. Mary Ann Yee's top eight went to Central High to compete in the district tournament. The following week on April 15 the top four traveled to ASU for the State tournament.

Miss Beverly Dryer's badminton team had an outstanding season this year. Headed by Sally Vargo, Ginger Kurtz, and Loretta Sotelo, the team went on to State playoffs which were held at ASU on April 15.

BADMINTON

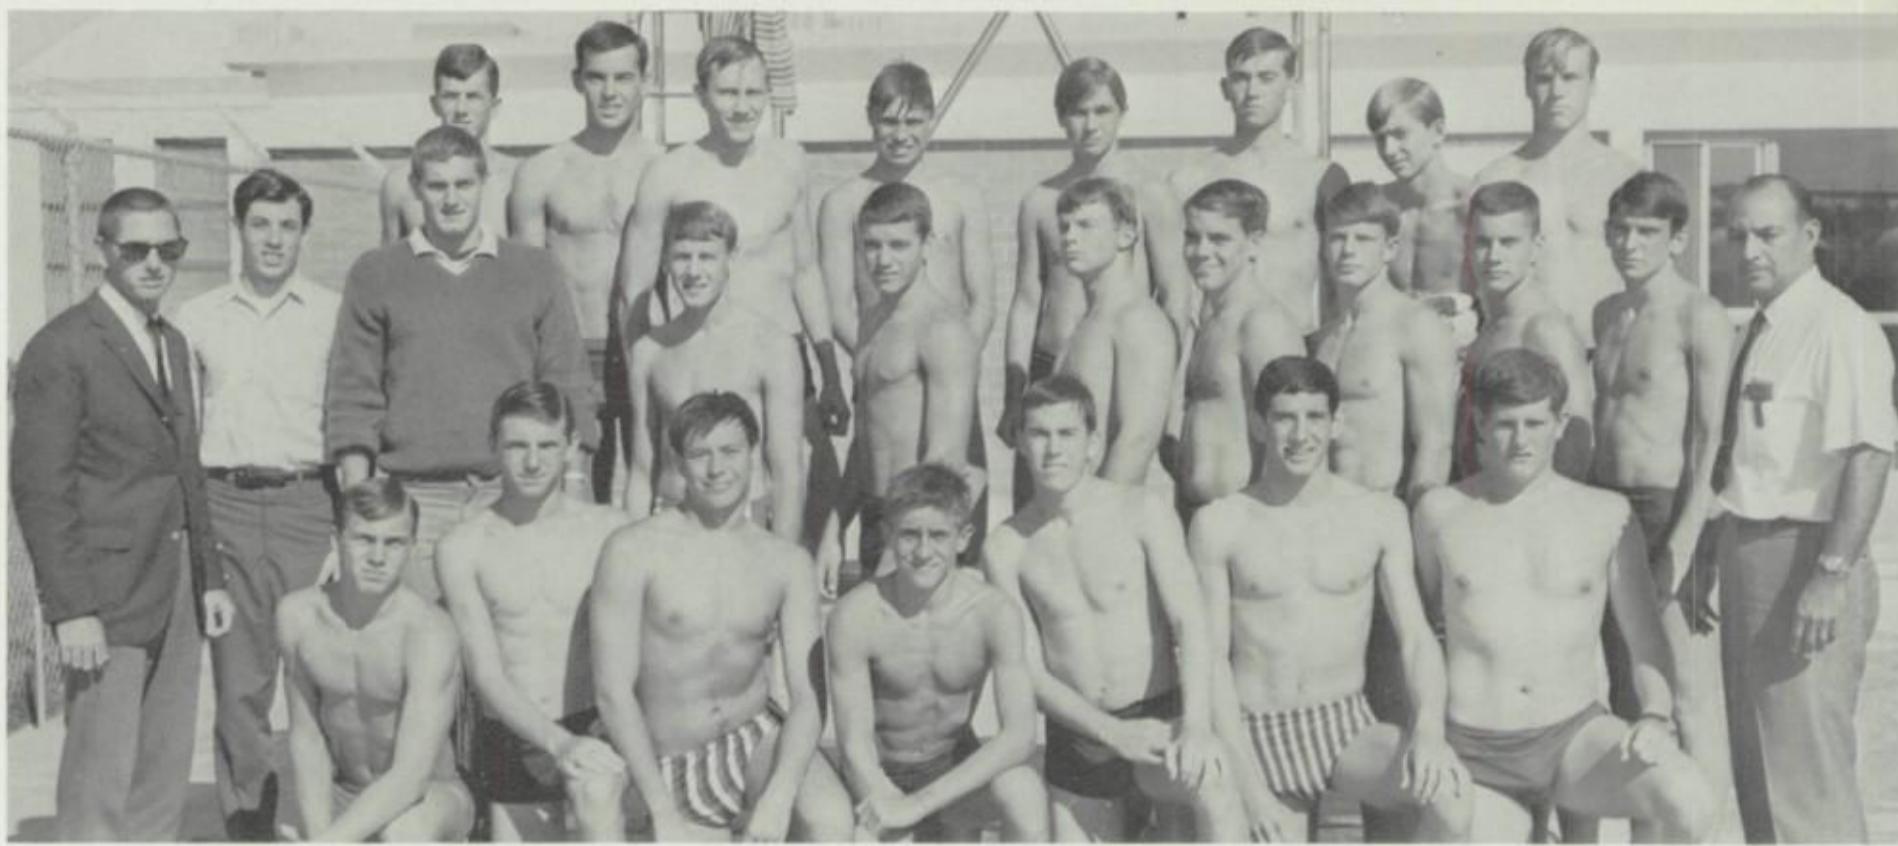

Coach Bob Widmer's varsity netters played one of their most outstanding seasons in years. Before their first loss with Number 1 North High, the T-Birds took easy victories over their first eight opponents. Dan Basche and Bill Pallas served as Widmer's most valuable players.

TENNIS

These five West High girls, varsity netters, aided by the coaching of Mrs. Ann Repp, managed to finish their season with a number of impressive victories. The team, whose record had improved over last year's 2-11 season, went to divisional playoffs on May 21 and 22.

West High's Swim Team — This year's swimming season was one of numerous victories which led the squad to participate in the competition for State Championship. The team, headed by Captain Dave Tempkin and Co-captain Dave Markovitz, was hailed with many returning lettermen as well as by several promising newcomers.

SWIMMING

John Padelford checks the forms of these two divers as they execute dives from different heights. John who is in his third year on the team, not only fared well in the diving event but he also took honor in the 50 medley freestyle.

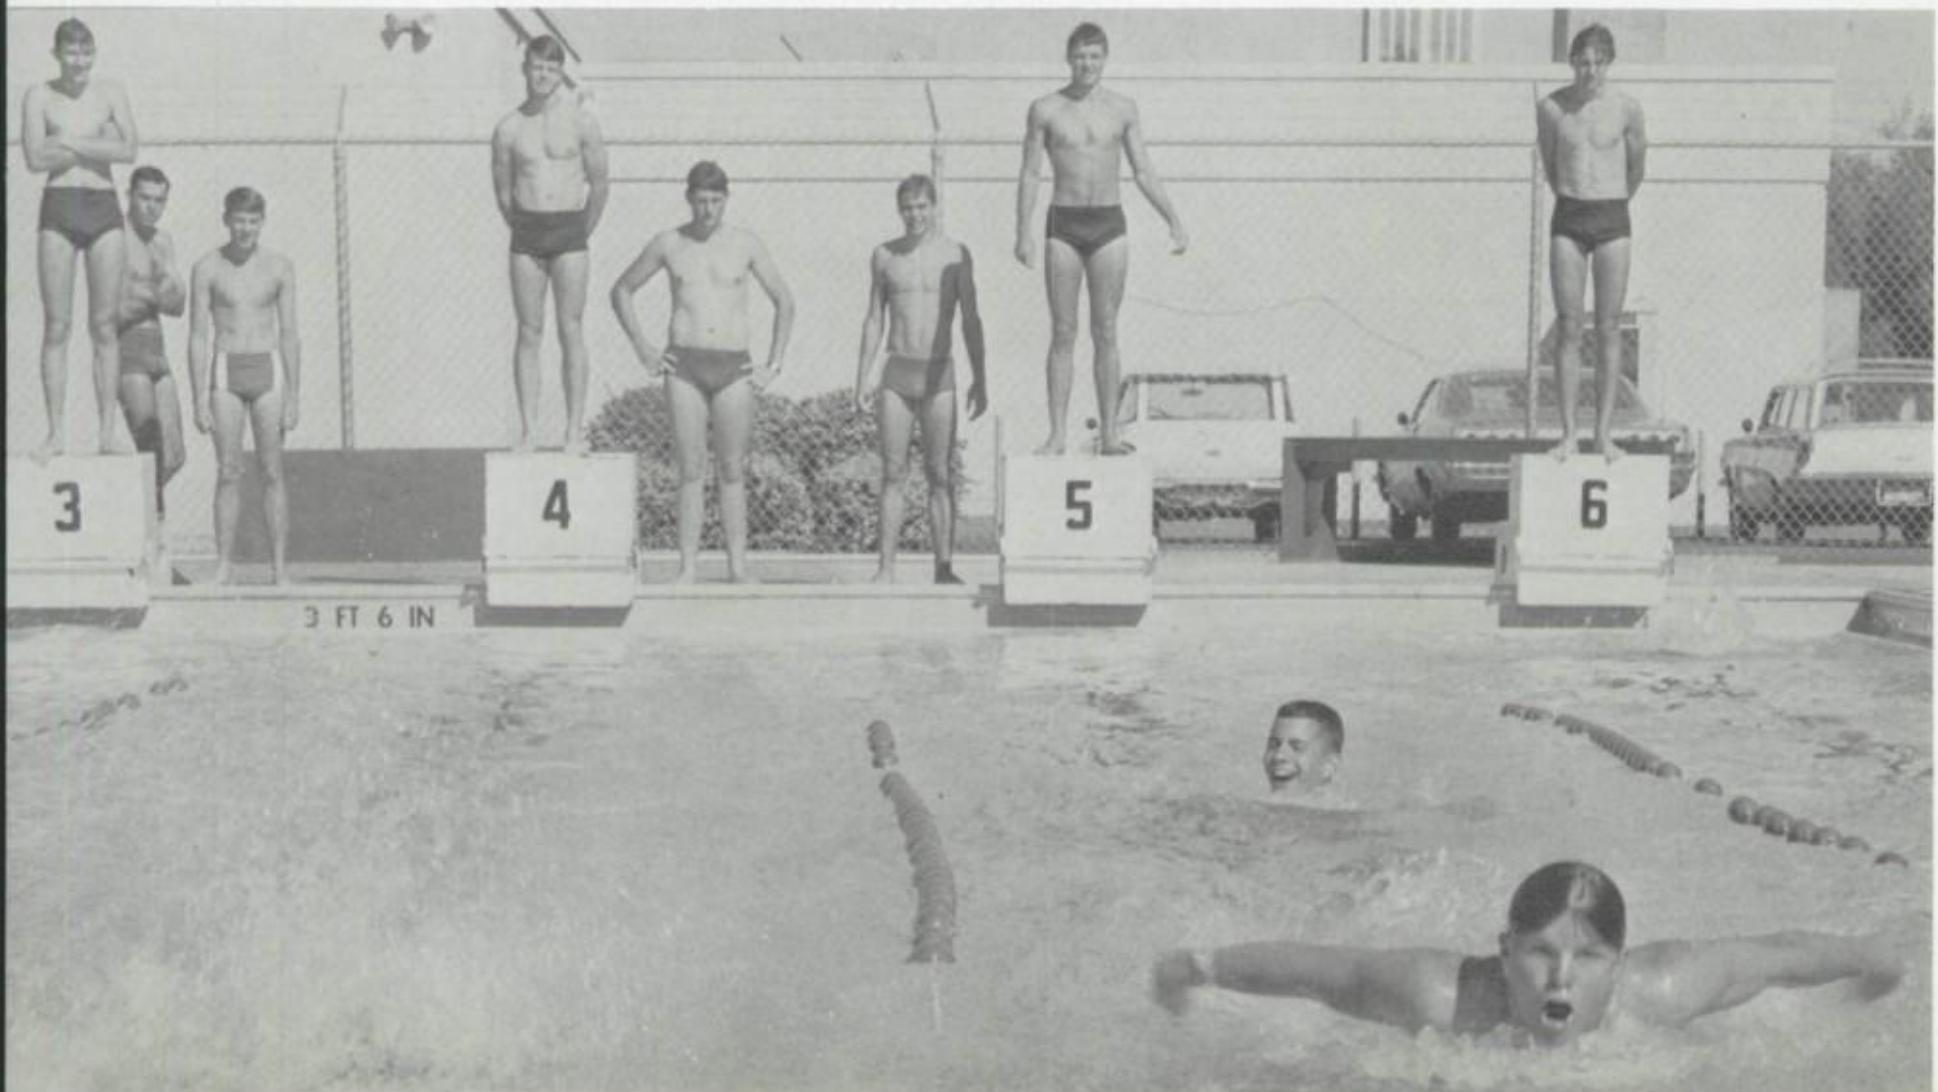

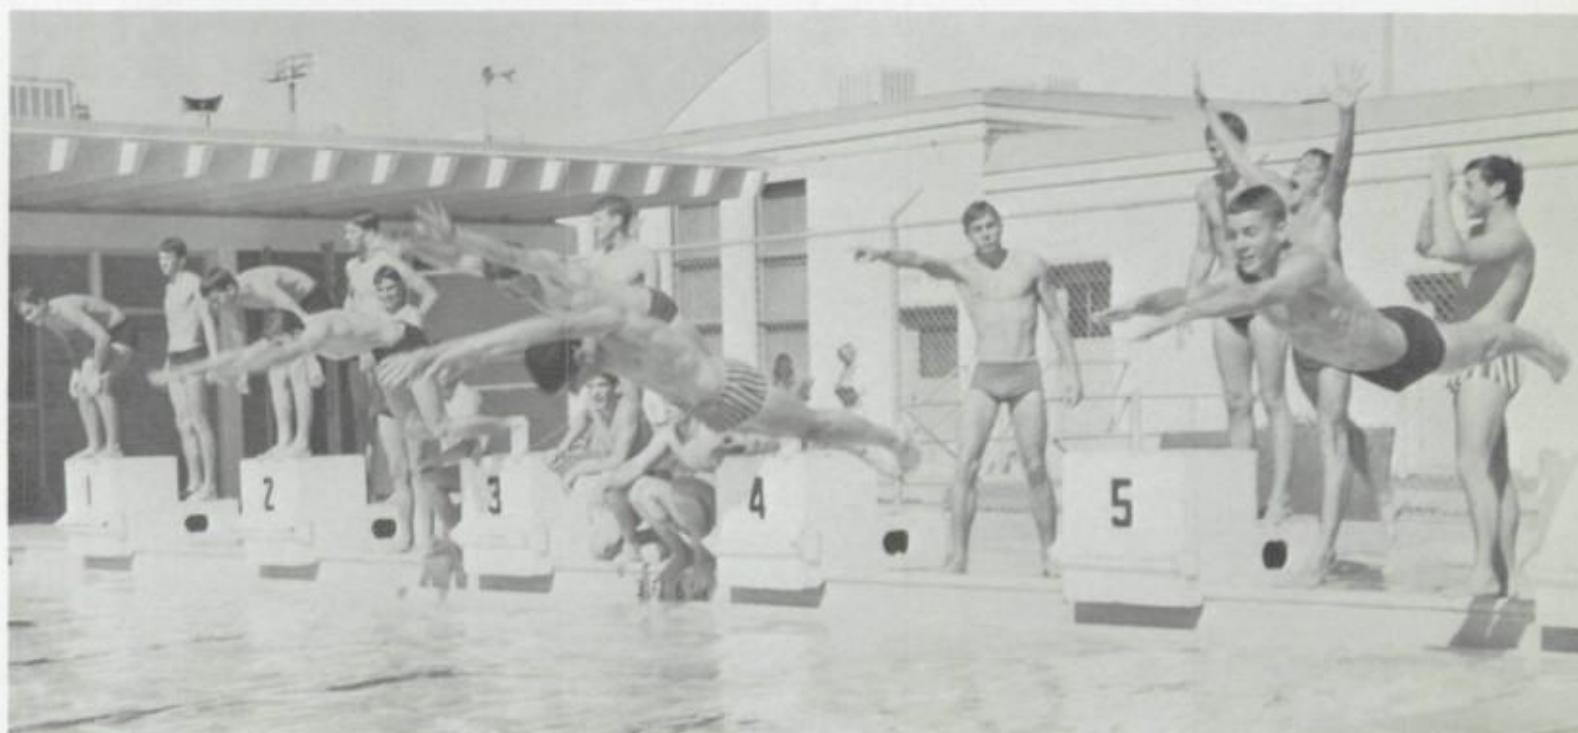

Taking a Breather — While resting between laps, members of the T-Bird swim team watch Glen Stombres finish his lap of butterfly strokes. A typical work out (which this doesn't seem to be) consists of long warm-ups followed by a combination of wind sprints and the practicing of strokes, starts, and turning mechanics.

Trying to Decide . . . Wes Harrison, one of West's competing divers, readies himself for an exhibition of his form which will be followed by constructive critiques from his fellow divers. During meets, divers are judged on such aspects as approach, entry, and form.

On Your Marks . . . Go! This year, under the direction of Head Coach Joe Barragon, and student teachers Bob Gillet and John Shimek, the team spent several days going over basic skills while getting back into shape for competition.

Members of the Barracuda Swim Club practiced weekly for their shows. The group performed at Mountain Shadows, P.T.A. programs, and a special spring water pageant.

BOWLING

Organized fun, the chief object of the Bowling Club, led to a successful active year. Competitive spirit led the group to pit their top ten bowlers against Maryvale's top ten in a two day tournament.

DECA members raised both money and spirit in the process of preparing for a future in business. Homecoming balloons and Christmas candy were among the products sold.

Striving for better understanding between people of different races, religions, and backgrounds, the Fellowship Club sponsored the Brotherhood Conference.

FELLOWSHIP

Tomorrow's homemakers sold cookbooks and make gifts for crippled children, in addition to sending delegates to the F.H.A. State Convention.

Dedicated to increasing scientific knowledge, the Future Scientists climaxed their year with a trip to Lowell Observatory and Meteor Crater.

FUTURE SCIENTISTS

Promoting an interest in sports, West's G.A.A. participated in sports activities ranging from deck tennis to softball. As a major project, the girls collected food, clothing, money, and toys for needy people. Bake sales financed their activities.

G.A.A.

Members of I.C.E. spent half their day at school and the other half at on-the-job training. Profits from their pretzel sales financed the annual employer-employee banquet.

By sponsoring Spirits Incorporated and supplying A.F.S. flags for West's "Hall of Flags" in the lobby, Interact practiced its motto, "Service Above Self."

INTERACT

Dedicated to school and community service, Key Club was one of West's most active organizations. Candy and calendars helped the group support its half of West's foreign exchange student.

KEY CLUB

West's Kings' Club celebrated its eleventh year, after pioneering Kings' Clubs in the United States, by collecting money for the Cerebral Palsey Program.

KINGS CLUB

Booster badge sales, jelly bean sales, and candy sales financed the many service activities of G.L.C.

Members of the Letterman's Club raised money and offered help for the Agnes Miller Boys Club as a major project. Much of their meeting time was spent preparing a new constitution.

NATIONAL HONOR

West's outstanding scholars were recognized as members of the National Honor Society and were considered among those most likely to succeed.

NATIONAL THESPIAN

Highlighting a year of dramatics, the National Thespians presented Edward Albee's "Sandbox."

Students ranking in the top 25% of their class were able to join Parnassus. Members were required to maintain a 4.5 grade average. The honors group entertained Orien Fifer as speaker at its annual banquet in January.

"Journalism students unite" is the motto of Quill and Scroll. Club initiation brought laughs for all but new members.

QUILL & SCROLL

With an operator license for every member as a goal, the Radio Club tuned in on places like Tokyo and Moscow as practice.

SPEECH & DEBATE

Hard work made an active and successful year for the speech and debate team, ranked among Phoenix's best.

(See Activities Index for identification)

SENIOR

Offering service to school and community, the Senior Girls League sent cookies to Vietnam, held a Christmas party for children in Guadalupe, sponsored the semi "Kalihim Na Mahal," and organized a boys panel discussion.

JUNIOR

Friendly Junior girls spread the Girls League spirit by collecting food and clothing for the Salvation Army Christmas drive and sponsoring Halloween and Christmas parties at an orphanage.

SOPHOMORE

Bake sales and pretzel sales helped Sophomore Girls League members contribute to TAP. The girls also volunteered to help the Maricopa County Mental Health Office.

FRESHMEN

Service-minded Freshman Girls Leaguers sponsored a Christmas party for the poor, collected clothing for Sunshine House, stuffed ditty bags to send to Vietnam, and collected for TAP.

CABINET

Organizers of all Girls League activities, Cabinet sponsored the Puff and Pant Prom, a fashion show, the State Convention, Every Girls Dinner, May Madness, and supported a Korean orphan.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Prom-minded Juniors added to their riches throughout the year by sponsoring numerous money raising activities. A sports dance featuring a battle of the bands brought in one hundred ninety dollars. In true Christmas spirit, Juniors sold five hundred candy canes.

JUNIORS

Several car washes added an average of thirty-five dollars to the treasury. The Juniors didn't spend ALL their time making money. There were decorations, invitations, entertainment, and refreshments to plan. All the time, money, and hard work was well worth the results at the Junior-Senior Prom, held in the Thunderbird Room of the Westward Ho Hotel.

Cathy Stanley, Debbie Harmon, Christie Burgess, Anita Smith, Vickie Heavin, Paula Cantrell, Gary Anderson, Bill Phillips.

Hard at work balancing equations for Mr. Cofer, these students are learning that (in chemistry at least) you get back just what you put in.

Most students could live without experiencing one of Mr. Jones' history lectures. Without them, though, what would break the monotony of memorizing every word of the text and almost as many from "other sources"?

The olive tree area — perennially a favorite spot of the students — found even more visitors this year under the flexible scheduling program.

West's spirited Sophomore Class, led by its officers President Dennis Schaub, Treasurer David Shapiro, Secretary Ginni Weaver, and Vice-President Diane Nelson, and Sponsors Mrs. Virginia Berggren and Mr. Joe Barragon, had an exceptionally prosperous year.

Wealthy as it is spirited, the sophomore class has shown it is determined to make the Class of 1969 one of the best. The Sophomores sponsored a sports dance, brought in the second largest amount of money from the magazine sale, and participated in several other money raising projects to make them one of the richest sophomore classes West has had.

SOPHOMORES

Sophomores were responsible for a homecoming float and supported the TAP program by sending a delegation to the TAP symposium. Spirited and active, the Sophomore class has greatly added to the '66-67 school year.

Another class of Freshmen has managed to survive a year of the traditional teasing. This year's Freshmen, however, had to survive tradition AND the confusing flexible scheduling. The first taste of this confusion came when they struggled through Freshman Day, lost in hours of orientation and testing.

Elections and a week of campaigning produced new officers and a voice in student government. Guided by their officers, Freshmen sponsored a sports dance, a homecoming float, and several money raising projects. With the experience of their freshman year behind them, the Class of 1970 has a bright future at West.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This has been a year of change for West High and its Student Body. In adapting the new flexible scheduling program, the students of West had the opportunity to develop into more mature, well rounded young adults.

But probably uppermost in the minds of the students at year's end are the memories, the friends, the classes, the activities, and everything else that comprised the year. This book is a record to keep these memories alive.

So many people were required to publish this book that simple thanks are not nearly enough, but our sincerest thanks now go to:

Mr. Richard Zimmerman, without whose assistance as both our advisor and photographer, this book's completion would not have been possible.

Mr. Hank Shulman of Southwest Yearbook Company, for catching our many errors and being eternally patient.

Mr. Bob Wilcox, for providing the fine photography in many of the sections.

Mr. Clarence Johnson, for providing assistance in setting our headlines this year.

Mr. Jim Agee, for allowing us to use the talents of Judy Yates and other sports writers for our Sports section; and Paul Metchick for writing military copy. Most importantly, the fifteen people who comprised the Staff and have given you the 1967 Westerner.

Your Editor,
Liz Willers
